The Senate amendment to the text of the bill struck out all of the House bill after the enacting clause and inserted a substitute text.

The House amendment to the Senate amendment to the text of the bill struck out all of the Senate amendment and inserted a substitute text.

The Senate recedes from its disagreement to the amendment of the House with an amendment which is a substitute for the Senate amendment and the House amendment thereto. BACKGROUND

On November 20, 1985, by a vote of 383-27, the House of Representatives passed H.R. 3622, the Joint Chiefs of Staff Reorganization Act of 1985. On April 14, 1986, the Senate Committee on Armed Services reported an original bill, S. 2295, the Department of Defense Reorganization Act of 1986. After Senate consideration, this bill was substituted for the text of H.R. 3622, and H.R. 3622 (as amended) passed the Senate by a vote of 95-0 on May 7, 1986. During consideration by the Senate, the short title of the bill was amended to become the Barry Goldwater Department of Defense Reorganization Act of 1986.

On July 21, 1986, the House Committee on Armed Services reported H.R. 4370, the Bill Nichols Department of Defense Reorganization Act of 1986. On August 5, 1986, H.R. 4370 was offered as an amendment to H.R. 4428, the Department of Defense Authorization Act, 1987 and was approved by the House of Representatives by a vote of 406-4.

On August 11, 1986, the House of Representatives amended the Bill Nichols Department of Defense Reorganization Act of 1986 to add the text of the original H.R. 3622 as title VI. The House of Representatives then substituted the text of this bill (as amended) for the text of the Senate amendment to H.R. 3622.

The conference committee convened on August 13, 1986 and completed action on September 11, 1986.

Composition of the Department of Defense

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 102) to prescribe the composition of the Department of Defense.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment to require the President to notify the Congress within 60 days of establishing or designating an office, agency, activity, or command in the Department of Defense of a kind other than those described in section 111 of title 10 (as redesignated by section 101(a) and amended by section 101(b) of the conference substitute amendment). This requirement would not apply to any office, agency, activity, or command that would be, after establishment or designation, under the control or supervision of any element described in section 111 of title 10.

SEC. 102. POWERS AND DUTIES OF THE SECRETARY OF DEFENSE

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 103) that would specify the following three additional duties for the Secretary of Defense:

(1) to inform the President, whenever a vacancy in a political position in the Department of Defense occurs, of the qualifications needed by an appointee to carry out effectively the duties and responsibilities of that position;

(2) to provide annually to the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff (JCS) written policy guidance for the preparation and review of contingency plans; and

(3) to keep the Secretaries of the Military Departments informed on military operations and activities of the Department of Defense that directly affect their responsibilities.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with two amendments. First, the Secretary of Defense would be required to include in his guidance for the preparation and review of contingency plans the specific force levels and specific supporting resource levels projected to be available for the period of time for which the contingency plans are to be effective. The second amendment would require the Secretary of Defense, with the advice and assistance of the JCS Chairman, to provide annually to the heads of Department of Defense components written policy guidance for the preparation and review of the program recommendations and budget proposals of their respective components.

With respect to the additional duty assigned to the Secretary of Defense concerning the qualifications of political appointees, the conferees remain concerned about the lack of sufficient experience and expertise by persons appointed to political positions in the Department of Defense. In a field as complex as national defense, inexperienced political appointees are a fundamental weakness in achieving sound and effective management. Although the executive branch can most effectively solve this problem through its selection process, the Senate conferees agreed to establish and exercise more rigorous confirmation standards for persons nominated for these political positions.

Section 113(b) of title 10 (as redesignated by section 101 of the conference substitute amendment) provides that:

The Secretary [of Defense] is the principal assistant to the President in all matters relating to the Department of Defense. Subject to the direction of the President and to this title and section 2 of the National Security Act of 1947 (50 U.S.C. 401), he has authority, direction, and control over the Department of Defense.

This current provision ensures that the Secretary has full power over every facet of the Department of Defense. The Secretary has sole and ultimate power within the Department of Defense on any matter on which the Secretary chooses to act. Provisions of the conference substitute amendment refer to various activities as being subject to the powers of the Secretary of Defense, using the phrase "subject to the authority, direction, and control of the Secretary of Defense". The conferees agreed that use of this phrase is solely for purposes of emphasis and that the absence of this phrase elsewhere in the conference substitute amendment is not to be construed as limiting the power of the Secretary under section 113(b) to exercise authority, direction, and control over an activity. Likewise, the conferees agreed that provisions of the conference substitute amendment concerning the decisionmaking process or requiring the Secretary to act with the advice or assistance of another officer or official do not limit the power or responsibility of the Secretary of Defense in the exercise of his authority, direction, and control.

SEC. 103. MODIFICATION OF AUTHORITY OF SECRETARY OF DEFENSE TO REORGANIZE THE DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 101) that would repeal the authority of the Secretary of Defense to change functions, powers, and duties vested by law in the Department of Defense or in an officer, official, or agency of the Department of Defense.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

SEC. 104. OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF DEFENSE

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 105) that would establish in law the Office of the Secretary of Defense, specify its function and composition, and reenact section 718 and section 136(d) of title 10 as part of this provision.

House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with two amendments. First, the function of the Office of the Secretary of Defense would be broadened from "to assist the Secretary of Defense in carrying out his duties and responsibilities" to include "and to carry out such other duties as may be prescribed by law" The conferees determined that including the additional phrase reflects more accurately the function of the Office of the Secretary of Defense, especially in light of the broad responsibilities assigned to the Inspector General of the Department of Defense by the Inspector General Act of 1978 (5 U.S.C. App. 3).

The second amendment relates to existing section 718 of title 10 which reads:

Officers of the armed forces may be detailed for duty as assistants or personal aides to the Secretary of Defense.

However, the Secretary may not establish a military staff other than that [the Joint Chiefs of Staff] established by section 141(a) of this title.

The conferees determined that both sentences of section 718 were ambiguous. To provide necessary clarification, the conferees agreed that section 131(c) of title 10 (as added by section 104 of the conference substitute amendment) should specify that military officers may be assigned or detailed to permanent duty in the Office of the Secretary of Defense and that the Secretary may not establish a military staff in the Office of the Secretary of Defense.

SEC. 105. UNDER SECRETARY FOR POLICY AND DIRECTOR OF DEFENSE RESEARCH AND ENGINEERING

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 106) that would repeal the current prohibition against a person being appointed Under Secretary of Defense for Policy within 10 years after his relief from active duty as a commissioned officer of a regular component of an Armed Force.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes. The conferees determined that such a prohibition was an appropriate civilian control mechanism for this important policymaking position. In a related action, the conferees determined to specify a duty for the Under Secretary of Defense for Policy to assist the Secretary of Defense in preparing written policy guidance for the preparation and review of contingency plans and in reviewing such plans. This action by the conference committee reflected continuing concern over the absence of effective civilian oversight of the contingency planning process. The assignment of this duty to the Under Secretary of Defense for Policy is connected to the additional duty regarding guidance for contingency plans that would be assigned to the Secretary of Defense by subsection (g)(2) of section 113 of title 10 (as added by section 102 of the conference substitute amendment).

The Military Retirement Reform Act of 1986 (Public Law 99-348) created the position of Under Secretary of Defense for Acquisition and established the position of Director of Defense Research and Engineering in the same section (section 135) of title 10 in which the position of Under Secretary of Defense for Policy is established. The conferees agreed that the Director of Defense Research and Engineering and the Under Secretary of Defense for Policy should be established in separate sections of title 10. Section 105 of the conference substitute amendment would merely make appropriate technical changes to establish the Under Secretary of Defense for Policy and the Director of Defense Research and Engineering in section 134 and section 135 of title 10, respectively.

The conferees agreed that none of the actions of the conference committee prejudice consideration of the duties of the new Under Secretary of Defense for Acquisition as contained in the versions of the Department of Defense Authorization Act for fiscal year 1987 passed by the Senate on August 9, 1986 (S. 2638) and by the House of Representatives on August 15, 1986 (H.R. 4428).

SEC. 106. ASSISTANT SECRETARIES OF DEFENSE

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 107) that would repeal the specification in law of the titles and duties of the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Health Affairs; the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Manpower and Logistics; the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Command, Control, Communications, and Intelligence; and the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Comptroller).

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment to retain the statutory specification of the title and duties of the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Command, Control, Communications, and Intelligence. The conferees agreed that this action by the conference committee does not prejudice the statutory specification of the title and duties of an Assistant Secretary of Defense for Special Operations and Low Intensity Conflict, as would be provided by the Department of Defense Authorization Bill for fiscal year 1987 passed by the Senate on August 9, 1986 (S. 2638).

SEC. 107. COMPTROLLER OF THE DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 108) that would establish the position of Comptroller of the Department of Defense and would assign to that position the same duties now assigned to the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Comptroller).

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment to require that the Comptroller of the Department of Defense be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate. The conferees agreed that the important duties of the Comptroller justi-fy these appointment requirements. While agreeing to establish this position in law, the conferees intend that the President may, in his discretion, designate the Comptroller of the Department of Defense as an assistant secretary of defense.

SEC. 108. INSPECTOR GENERAL OF THE DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 109) that would recognize in title 10, by a cross reference to the Inspector General Act of 1978 (5 U.S.C. App. 3), the appointment and duties of the Inspector General of the Department of Defense.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.
The House recedes.

SEC. 109. MANAGEMENT STUDIES OF OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF DEFENSE

The House amendment contained a provision (section 502) that would require studies of the functions and organization of the Office of the Secretary of Defense by the Secretary of Defense, the Secretary of each Military Department, the JCS Chairman, and an independent contractor.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with amendments to require the Secretaries of the Military Departments to conduct a joint study and to revise the matters to be considered by each study. The conferees agreed that the Deputy Secretary of Defense should be responsible for supervising the study by an independent contractor of the Office of the Secretary of Defense.

SEC. 110. TECHNICAL AND CONFORMING AMENDMENTS

Section 110 of the conference substitute amendment would amend title 10 to make appropriate conforming and technical changes to implement the actions of the conference committee relating to title I of the conference substitute amendment.

TITLE II—MILITARY ADVICE AND COMMAND FUNCTIONS

PART A—JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF

SEC. 201. REVISED FUNCTIONS OF CHAIRMAN; ESTABLISHMENT OF VICE CHAIRMAN

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 111) that would make several changes in chapter 5 (Joint Chiefs of Staff) of title 10, United States Code.

The House amendment contained several provisions (sections 102 and sections 601-610) that would make similar changes in chapter 5 of title 10.

Sec. 151. Joint Chiefs of Staff: composition; functions

Composition of the Joint Chiefs of Staff

The House amendment contained a provision (section 601) that would specify that the Joint Chiefs of Staff (JCS) are "headed" by the Chairman.

fy these appointment requirements. While agreeing to establish this position in law, the conferees intend that the President may, in his discretion, designate the Comptroller of the Department of Defense as an assistant secretary of defense.

SEC. 108. INSPECTOR GENERAL OF THE DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 109) that would recognize in title 10, by a cross reference to the Inspector General Act of 1978 (5 U.S.C. App. 3), the appointment and duties of the Inspector General of the Department of Defense.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.
The House recedes.

SEC. 109. MANAGEMENT STUDIES OF OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF DEFENSE

The House amendment contained a provision (section 502) that would require studies of the functions and organization of the Office of the Secretary of Defense by the Secretary of Defense, the Secretary of each Military Department, the JCS Chairman, and an independent contractor.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with amendments to require the Secretaries of the Military Departments to conduct a joint study and to revise the matters to be considered by each study. The conferees agreed that the Deputy Secretary of Defense should be responsible for supervising the study by an independent contractor of the Office of the Secretary of Defense.

SEC. 110. TECHNICAL AND CONFORMING AMENDMENTS

Section 110 of the conference substitute amendment would amend title 10 to make appropriate conforming and technical changes to implement the actions of the conference committee relating to title I of the conference substitute amendment.

TITLE II—MILITARY ADVICE AND COMMAND FUNCTIONS

PART A—JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF

SEC. 201. REVISED FUNCTIONS OF CHAIRMAN; ESTABLISHMENT OF VICE CHAIRMAN

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 111) that would make several changes in chapter 5 (Joint Chiefs of Staff) of title 10, United States Code.

The House amendment contained several provisions (sections 102 and sections 601-610) that would make similar changes in chapter 5 of title 10.

Sec. 151. Joint Chiefs of Staff: composition; functions

Composition of the Joint Chiefs of Staff

The House amendment contained a provision (section 601) that would specify that the Joint Chiefs of Staff (JCS) are "headed" by the Chairman.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recesses.

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 111) that would designate the Vice Chairman as a member of the JCS.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 606) that would designate the Deputy Chairman as the Director of the Joint Staff.

The Senate recesses with an amendment to delete the designation of the Vice Chairman as the Director of the Joint Staff. Although the Vice Chairman will not be a member of the JCS, the conferees expect him to make an extremely important contribution to the work of the Chairman and the other JCS members. Under section 154(g) of title 10 (as amended by section 201 of the conference substitute amendment), the Vice Chairman outranks all other officers of the Armed Forces except the Chairman. In addition, section 154(d) of title 10 (as amended by section 201 of the conference substitute amendment) assigns the Vice Chairman the duty to act as the Chairman in the absence or disability of the Chairman or in the case of a vacancy in the office of Chairman. The conferees expect that when the Vice Chairman is acting for the Chairman, he shall be considered a full member of the JCS with the duties, authority, responsibilities, and status of the Chairman.

JCS Members as Military Advisers

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 111) that would designate the members of the JCS as military advisers to the President, the National Security Council, and the Secretary of Defense, "as specified in this section" (section 151 of title 10, as amended by section 111 of the Senate amendment).

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recesses with an amendment to clarify that the phrase "as specified in this section" refers to subsections (d) and (e) of section 151 of title 10, as amended by section 201 of the conference substitute amendment.

JCS as Military Staff to Secretary of Defense

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 111) that would designate the Joint Chiefs of Staff, assisted by the Joint Staff, as the immediate military staff of the Secretary of Defense.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recesses.

Consultative Duties of the Chairman

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 111) that would require the JCS Chairman to take the following actions in the course of performing his duties: to convene regular JCS meetings; unless impracticable, to consult with and seek the advice of the other JCS members; and, when appropriate, to consult with and seek the advice of the unified and specified combatant commanders.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (section 601) that would require the JCS Chairman to perform his duties in consultation, as appropriate, with the other JCS members and with the unified and specified combatant commanders.

The Senate recesses with an amendment to require the Chairman to convene regular JCS meetings. The conferees intend that the Chairman shall consult, unless impracticable, with the other JCS members on issues which he judges to be of major importance. On matters that the Chairman considers to be of lesser significance, the conferees expect him to consult, when he considers appropriate, with the other members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Chairman to Present Range of Advice

The House amendment contained a provision (section 606) that would amend existing section 142(b)(3) of title 10 to require the JCS Chairman to inform the Secretary of Defense, and, when the President or the Secretary of Defense considers it appropriate, the President, of the military advice of the JCS as a body on those matters for which advice is requested by the President or the Secretary of Defense (including advice on matters on which JCS members have not agreed).

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recesses with two amendments. First, the Chairman is required, as he considers appropriate, to inform the President, the National Security Council, or the Secretary of Defense of the range of military advice and opinion on a matter for which advice has been requested. Second, the relationship of this provision to section 151(d) of title 10 (as amended by section 201 of the conference substitute amendment) is clarified. The conferees do not intend to alter the responsibility of the Chairman to submit other JCS members' dissenting views (under section 151(d) of title 10, as amended by section 201 of the conference substitute amendment) by giving the Chairman discretion in informing senior civilian officials of the range of military advice.

Dissenting Views of JCS Members

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 111) that would authorize any JCS member to submit advice in disagreement or in addition to the advice provided by the Chairman to the President, the National Security Council (NSC), or the Secretary of Defense. If a member submits such advice, the Chairman would be required to present that advice at the same time he presented his own advice to the President, the NSC, or the Secretary of Defense.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (section 606).

The House recesses with an amendment to ensure that the dissenting views of other JCS members will not unduly delay the presentation of the Chairman's advice.

JCS Members' Advice Upon Request

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 111) that would direct JCS members (other than the Chairman), in their capacity as military advisers, to provide advice on a particular matter in response to a request from the President, the National Security Council, or the Secretary of Defense.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (section 606) that would direct the JCS, as a body, to provide advice to the President and the Secretary of Defense on matters for which such advice was requested.

The House recedes with an amendment to require the members of the JCS, individually or collectively, in their capacity as military advisers, to provide advice to the President, the NSC, or the Secretary of Defense on a particular matter whenever it is requested.

Sec. 152. Chairman: appointment; rank

Term of the JCS Chairman

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 111) that would authorize the President to appoint the JCS Chairman to three 2-year terms.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 605) that would authorize the President to appoint the JCS Chairman to two 4-year terms.

The House recedes.

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 111) that would specify that the term of the JCS Chairman would expire not later than 6 months after the beginning of a new Presidency. The purpose of this requirement was to give a newly elected President an automatic opportunity to retain or release the military officer who would serve as his principal military adviser.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 605) that would specify that, if a JCS Chairman did not complete his term, his successor would serve only for the remainder of the unexpired term.

The Senate recedes with the following two amendments: to specify that the Chairman's term will begin on October 1st of odd-numbered years, and to clarify that a successor to a Chairman who failed to complete his term may be reappointed to two 2-year terms.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 605) that would specify that the first appointment of a JCS Chairman made on or after the date of enactment of the House amendment would be for a term ending on June 30, 1990.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Combined Service as Chairman and Vice Chairman

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 111) that would limit to 6 years the combined length of time that a military officer could serve as JCS Chairman and Vice Chairman. The President would be authorized to extend this limitation to 8 years if he determined such action was in the national interest.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Qualifications for Appointment as JCS Chairman

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 111) that would require, subject to a waiver by the President, that JCS members have served in at least one joint duty position for a substantial period of time before their assignment to the JCS.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 301) that would require that, whenever practicable, an officer recommended to the President for appointment as JCS Chairman have served as a Chief of Service or as a unified or specified combatant commander.

The Senate recedes with an amendment to require, subject to a waiver by the President, that the Chairman have served as the Vice Chairman, a Service Chief, or a unified or specified combatant commander before his appointment.

Grade of the JCS Chairman

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 111) that would specify that the JCS Chairman, while so serving, holds the grade of general or admiral.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Sec. 153. Chairman: functions

Duties of the JCS Chairman

Both the Senate and House amendments would make several changes in the duties assigned to the Joint Chiefs of Staff and would transfer responsibility for those duties, as amended, to the JCS Chairman.

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 111) that would amend existing section 141(c)(1) of title 10 to require the JCS Chairman to prepare strategic plans to provide for the strategic direction of the armed forces, including plans which conform with resource levels projected by the Secretary of Defense.

The House amendment contained no similar provision. Therefore, it would assign to the Chairman the duty prescribed by existing section 141(c)(1) of title 10 to prepare strategic plans and provide for the strategic direction of the armed forces.

The House recedes with an amendment to provide that the JCS Chairman shall assist the President and the Secretary of Defense in providing for the strategic direction of the armed forces.

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 111) that would amend existing section 141(c)(2) of title 10 to clarify that the purpose of the joint logistic and mobility plans prepared by the JCS Chairman would be to support contingency plans.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment to broaden the purpose to include strategic plans as well as contingency plans.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 102) that would require the JCS Chairman to perform net assessments.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes. The conferees agreed to direct that, in conducting net assessments, the JCS Chairman shall include the wartime capabilities of the U.S. Coast Guard.

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 111) that would require the JCS Chairman to provide for the preparation and review of contingency plans which conform to policy guidance from the President and the Secretary of Defense.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recesses.

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 111) that would require the JCS Chairman to advise the Secretary of Defense on critical deficiencies and strengths in force capabilities which are identified during the preparation and review of contingency plans. The Chairman would then be required to assess the effect of such deficiencies and strengths on meeting national security objectives and on strategic plans.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recesses.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 102) that would require the JCS Chairman to establish and maintain a uniform system of evaluating the preparedness of the unified and specified combatant commands.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recesses.

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 111) that would require the JCS Chairman to advise the Secretary of Defense on the extent to which the annual program recommendations and budget proposals of components of the Defense Department conform with strategic priorities and the unified and specified combatant commanders' operational requirements.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 102) that would specify two duties for the JCS Chairman. First, the Chairman would submit to the Secretary of Defense an annual recommendation for the broad allocation of defense resources based upon the Secretary's guidance, the unified and specified combatant commanders' recommendations, and the recommendations of other Defense Department components.

Second, the Chairman would recommend to the Secretary of Defense the changes that would be necessary to make the program objectives and budget proposals of the Military Departments and the combat support agencies consistent with the Chairman's recommendation for the broad allocation of defense resources.

The House recesses with two amendments. First, the Chairman is required to advise the Secretary of Defense on the priorities of the requirements identified by the unified and specified combatant commanders.

Second, the Chairman is required to submit to the Secretary of Defense alternative program recommendations and budget proposals, within projected resource levels and guidance provided by the Secretary, in order to achieve greater conformance with the priorities established in strategic plans and with the priorities established for the unified and specified combatant commanders' requirements.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 102) that would require the JCS Chairman to recommend to the Secretary of Defense a budget for each unified and specified combatant command.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recesses.

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 111) that would require the JCS Chairman to assess joint military requirements for defense acquisition programs.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment to broaden the duty to encompass all military requirements. Despite the broad nature of this responsibility, the conferees strongly believe that the Chairman should not be required to spend too much time and energy on the acquisition of defense systems. The Chairman's unique role in planning and operational matters is far too important to allow him to be preoccupied with acquisition issues. The conferees' only purpose in broadening his duty to assess military requirements is to give the Chairman and the Secretary of Defense flexibility in delineating the Chairman's role in the acquisition process.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 102) that would require the JCS Chairman to monitor the extent to which each Military Department provided officers for joint duty assignments.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with amendments to clarify the information required on each Military Department's share of joint duty assignments and to transfer this provision to section 667 of title 10, as added by section 401 of the conference substitute amendment.

Report on the Services' Roles and Missions

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 111) that would require the JCS Chairman to submit a periodic report to the Secretary of Defense on the assignment of functions or roles and missions to the four military Services.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Sec. 154. Vice Chairman

Title of the Vice Chairman

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 111) that would establish the position of Vice Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 606) that would establish the position of Deputy Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The House recedes.

Term of the Vice Chairman

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 111) that would authorize the President to appoint the Vice Chairman to three 2-year terms.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 606) that would authorize the President to appoint the Deputy Chairman to two 4-year terms.

The House recedes.

Duties of the Vice Chairman

The Senate and House amendments contained identical provisions (sections 111 and 606, respectively) that would require the Vice Chairman to perform the duties delegated by the Chairman with the approval of the Secretary of Defense.

Like the duties of other deputy officials and officers in the Defense Department, those of the Vice Chairman would not be specified by title 10. Subject to the approval of the Secretary of Defense, the Chairman would enjoy substantial flexibility in determining the duties of the Vice Chairman.

Despite this broad grant of authority, the conferees strongly believe that the Vice Chairman, like the Chairman, should not be required to participate too deeply in the defense acquisition process. Instead, the Vice Chairman should assist the Chairman in carrying out the significant responsibilities he already bears as well as the many new ones assigned by this conference substitute amendment. In particular, the Chairman performs unique planning and advisory duties (including representing the interests of the unified and specified combatant commanders) that would greatly benefit from the assistance of the Vice Chairman.

Qualifications for Appointment as Vice Chairman

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 111) that would require, subject to a waiver by the President, that JCS members (including the Vice Chairman) have served in at least one joint duty position for a substantial period of time before their assignment to the JCS.

The House amendment contained no similar provision for the Vice Chairman.

The House recedes with an amendment to require, subject to a waiver by the President, that the Vice Chairman have the joint specialty (established in title IV of the conference substitute amendment) and have served in at least one joint duty assignment as a general or flag officer before his appointment. In addition, the conferees provided, in section 204 of the conference substitute amendment, a transition provision for use by the President before full application of these new requirements.

Vice Chairman as the Acting Chairman

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 111) that would provide that the Vice Chairman, unless otherwise directed by the President or Secretary of Defense, would act for the Chairman when there was a vacancy in the office of Chairman or in the absence or disability of the Chairman.

The House amendment contained an identical provision (section 606), except that it did not include authority for the President or Secretary of Defense to direct that the Vice Chairman would not act for the Chairman in his absence.

The Senate recedes with an amendment to direct the President to designate a JCS member to act for the Chairman if both the Chairman and Vice Chairman should be absent or disabled.

Sec. 155. Joint Staff

Assistance to the Chairman and Other JCS Members

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 111) that would specify that, subject to the authority, direction, and control of the Chairman, the Joint Staff would assist the Chairman and the other JCS members in carrying out their responsibilities.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment to specify that the Joint Staff is to assist the Vice Chairman, as well as the Chairman and the other JCS members, in carrying out his responsibilities.

Selection of the Director of the Joint Staff

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 111) that would authorize the JCS Chairman to select the Director of the Joint Staff.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Management of the Joint Staff

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 111) that would specify that the JCS Chairman would manage the Joint Staff and its Director.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Duties and Staffing Procedures of the Joint Staff

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 111) that would require the Joint Staff to perform the duties prescribed by the JCS Chairman under such procedures as he directed.

The House amendment contained a provision that would require the Joint Staff to perform the duties prescribed by the Chairman.

The House recedes.

Operation of the Joint Staff

The House amendment contained a provision (section 607) that would require the Secretary of Defense to ensure that the Joint Staff was independently organized and operated so that it could support the JCS Chairman in meeting the congressional purpose set forth in the National Security Act of 1947.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

Organization of the Joint Staff Along Conventional Staff Lines

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 111) that would amend existing section 143(d) of title 10 to authorize the Joint Staff to be organized and operated along conventional staff lines to support the JCS Chairman and the other JCS members in discharging their responsibilities.

The House amendment contained an identical provision (section 607), except that it referred only to the Chairman (and not to the other JCS members as well).

The Senate recedes with an amendment to delete the reference to the support that the Joint Staff is to provide the Chairman. The conferees determined that this provision need not specify that the Joint Staff is to support the Chairman or the other JCS members because that function is already specified in section 155(a) of title 10 (as amended by section 201 of the conference substitute amendment). Instead, the primary purpose of this provision is to prohibit the Joint Staff from exercising executive authority and from being organized and operated as a General Staff. These prohibitions are fully preserved in the conferees' action.

Authority to Suspend Joint Staff Officers

As part of the action of the conference committee on part B of title II of the conference substitute amendment, the conferees agreed to authorize the commander of a unified or specified combatant command to suspend from duty and recommend the reassignment of any officer within his command. The conferees believe that the JCS Chairman should be able to exercise similar authority over Joint Staff officers.

Therefore, the conferees agreed to clarify existing section 143(a)(3) of title 10 to authorize the Chairman to suspend from duty and recommend the reassignment of any officer assigned to the Joint Staff. However, the conferees agreed that procedures required by this provision pertain solely to the relationships between the Chairman and the Military Department concerned with respect to service by an officer on the Joint Staff. The conferees agreed that nothing in this provision confers on an officer assigned to the Joint Staff any procedural rights concerning suspension from duty or reassignment.

Organization of the Joint Staff to Perform Net Assessments

The House amendment contained a provision (section 102) that would require the JCS Chairman to ensure that the Joint Staff was organized and staffed so as to enable the Chairman to perform net assessments.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes. The conferees did not believe it was necessary to specify in statute that the JCS Chairman should ensure that the Joint Staff is capable of assisting him in performing net assessments. Section 201 of the conference substitute amendment includes the performance of net assessments among the duties of the Chairman. Therefore, the conferees fully expect the Chairman to organize and operate the Joint Staff so that it is able to assist him in carrying out this important responsibility.

Limitation on Size of Joint Staff

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 111) that would impose, as of October 1, 1988, a limitation of 1,617 on the number of civilian and military personnel serving on the Joint Staff. The Joint Staff would be defined to include all civilian and military personnel assigned or detailed to permanent duty to assist the JCS Chairman and Vice Chairman in carrying out their responsibilities and to assist the other JCS members in carrying out their JCS responsibilities.

The House amendment contained no similar provision. Therefore, it would continue the limitation specified in existing section 143(a)(1) of title 10 of 400 officers on the size of the Joint Staff (without defining the Joint Staff).

The House recedes with the following two amendments: to set the limitation at 1,627 and to clarify the definition of the Joint Staff to include only those personnel assigned or detailed to permanent duty in the executive part of the Defense Department to perform the Joint Staff functions and duties prescribed under sections 155 (a) and (c) of title 10, as amended by section 201 of the conference substitute amendment.

Report on Further Changes

The House amendment contained a provision (section 610) that would require the Secretary of Defense to submit a report to the Congress on the manner in which several changes to the JCS system, the unified and specified combatant commands, and the management of joint duty officers could be implemented.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes. Most of the matters that would have been included in the Secretary's report are addressed elsewhere in the conference substitute amendment.

SEC. 203. PARTICIPATION IN NATIONAL SECURITY COUNCIL MEETINGS

The House amendment contained a provision (section 609) that would require the JCS Chairman, subject to the direction of the President, to attend meetings of the National Security Council (NSC) and would authorize the Chairman, as directed by the President, to participate in its deliberations.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment to authorize the Chairman, in his role as the principal military adviser to the NSC and subject to the direction of the President, to attend and participate in NSC meetings.

SEC. 204. TRANSITION

Preparedness Evaluation System

As part of the action of the conference committee on section 153(a)(3)(D) of title 10 (as added by section 201 of the conference substitute amendment), the conferees agreed to require that the uniform system of evaluating the preparedness of the unified and specified combatant commands be established not later than 1 year after the date of enactment.

Date for First Report on Services' Roles and Missions

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 111) that would require the Chairman to submit his first report on the military Services' roles and missions not later than 1 year after the date of enactment.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment to require the first report to be submitted 2 years after the date of enactment.

Waiver of Qualifications for Appointment as Vice Chairman

As part of the action of the conference committee on section 154(b) of title 10 (as added by section 201 of the conference substitute amendment), the conferees agreed to authorize the President to waive the qualifications for appointment as the JCS Vice Chairman during a transition period before full application of the requirements of section 154(b). Under section 204(c) of the conference substitute amendment, the President would be authorized to waive:

(1) for a 2-year period after enactment, the requirement the Vice Chairman have the joint specialty;

(2) for a 4-year period after enactment, the requirement that the Vice Chairman have served in a joint duty assignment for 3 years if the Vice Chairman has served in such an assignment for not less than 2 years; and

(3) for a 4-year period after enactment, the requirement that the Vice Chairman have served in a joint duty assignment as a general or flag officer if the Vice Chairman served as a general or flag officer in an assignment that was considered a joint duty assignment or a joint equivalent assignment under regulations in effect at the time the assignment began.

Although section 154(b)(2) of title 10 (as added by section 201 of the conference substitute amendment) provides the President with authority to waive the requirements for appointment as the Vice Chairman, the conferees agreed to provide a specific waiver for a limited transition period so that the exercise of a Presidential waiver, as would be required in the immediate future, would not become standard practice. After the transition period, the conferees expect the President to exercise his permanent waiver authority only in an extremely limited number of cases and only for officers of exceptional talent who may fail to meet the specified criteria.

PART B—COMBATANT COMMANDS

SEC. 211. ESTABLISHMENT OF COMBATANT COMMANDS AND AUTHORITY OF COMMANDERS

Sec. 161. Combatant commands: establishment

Review of Combatant Command Structure

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 112) that would require the President to review periodically, but not less often than every 2 years, the missions, tasks, responsibilities (including geographic boundaries), and force structure of each unified and specified combatant command and to make whatever revisions are necessary to respond to changing conditions.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 101) that would require the JCS Chairman periodically (not less often than every other year) to review the overall structure of the combatant commands and to recommend to the President, through the Secretary of Defense, any changes that the Chairman considers necessary or appropriate.

The Senate recesses.

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 112) that would require the President to notify Congress, except during time of hostilities, at least 60 days before establishing a new combatant command or before significantly revising the missions, tasks, responsibilities, or force structure of an existing combatant command.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 101) that would require the President to inform Congress promptly of any action taken in response to recommendations made by the Chairman.

The House recedes with an amendment to require the Presidential notification at least 60 days after establishing a new combatant command or after significantly revising the missions, responsibilities, or force structure of an existing combatant command.

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 112) that would define four terms for chapter 6 of title 10: unified combatant command, specified combatant command, combatant command, and combatant forces.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment to delete the definition of the term "combatant force" which is not used in chapter 6 of title 10 (as provided by the conference substitute amendment).

Social Combatant Commands

The House amendment contained a provision (section 101) that would authorize the President to establish special combatant commands if the President determined that the situation warranted such a force to perform a specific military mission. This provision would also require the President to prescribe the shortest practicable chain of command for each force deployed consistent with proper supervision and support.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes. The conferees agreed that the President already has authority, as Commander in Chief, to establish such special combatant commands and to prescribe their chains of command. The conferees do believe that considerable study of how the President can more effectively use such authority in crises is needed. The role of the President and the Secretary of Defense in crises during the last 30 years has been inconsistent. In some instances, the President and the Secretary have failed to take prompt action to ensure the effective organization, employment, direction, and control of U.S. military forces committed to combat operations. As a consequence, streamlined command arrangements and other necessary adjustments tailored to the situation have not been established. In other instances, the President and the Secretary have been over-involved and have engaged in unnecessary micro-management of tactical operations.

The conferees agreed that there is a genuine requirement for effective Presidential control in efforts to manage certain crises, especially those with the potential for superpower confrontation. In today's international security environment, in which both the United States and the Soviet Union possess substantial nuclear arsenals and in which the two superpowers are locked in competition either directly or indirectly in numerous world areas, the need to manage and terminate confrontations before they escalate to war has become increasingly important.

To begin the necessary study of how the President can more effectively manage crises, the conferees agreed to direct that the initial review of the combatant commands (Unified Command Plan), as required by section 212 of the conference substitute amendment, should develop procedures by which the President could systematize his evaluation of command arrangements, including the chain of command. Such procedures should produce more effective responses to, and management of, any crisis, however unique, that may occur.

Sec. 162. Combatant commands: assigned forces; chain of command

Assignment of Forces

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 112) that would require all combatant forces of the Military Departments to be assigned to combatant commands, unless otherwise directed by the Secretary of Defense. This provision would also require each Secretary of a Military Department, with the approval of the Secretary of Defense and consistent with the force structure prescribed by the President for each combatant command, to assign combatant forces of his Military Department to combatant commands.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 101) that would require the Secretaries of the Military Departments to assign all forces under their jurisdiction, except for forces assigned to the recruiting, organizing, training, or supplying of the armed forces, to combatant commands. This provision would also require such assignments to be made as directed by the Secretary of Defense, including direction as to the command to which forces are to be assigned. In addition, this provision would specify that a force not assigned to a combatant command remains in the Military Department concerned.

The Senate recedes with amendments to: (1) require the Secretary of Defense to ensure that assignments of forces to combatant commands are consistent with the force structure prescribed by the President; (2) provide that forces required to be assigned to combatant commands do not include forces assigned to carry out the functions of the Secretaries of the Military Departments; and (3) delete the specification that a force not assigned to a combatant command remains in the Military Department concerned. The conferees agreed to the third amendment because this specification was unnecessary.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 101) that would require the commanders of combatant commands (hereafter referred to as "combatant commanders") and the Secretaries of the Military Departments, as directed by the Secretary of Defense, to assign forces under their jurisdiction to special combatant commands.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 101) that would provide, unless otherwise directed by the Secretary of Defense, that all forces operating within the geographic area of a unified combatant command would be assigned to and under the command of the commander of that command. This provision would also provide that this requirement would apply to forces of specified or special combatant commands only as prescribed by the Secretary of Defense.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment to delete the portion of the House provision relating to special combatant commands.

Chain of Command

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 112) that would specify that, unless otherwise directed by the President, the chain of command for the operational direction of the combatant commands runs from the President to the Secretary of Defense to the combatant commanders. This provision would also authorize, subject to the limitations that the JCS Chairman may not exercise military command over the Joint Chiefs of Staff or any of the armed forces, the President or the Secretary of Defense to direct communications from the Secretary of Defense to the combatant commanders to run through the JCS Chairman.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 603) that would authorize the President or Secretary of Defense to direct that the national military chain of command runs to the combatant commanders through the JCS Chairman.

The House recedes with three amendments. First, the phrase "for the operational direction" would be dropped from the description of the chain of command. The conferees agreed that this phrase may serve as an unintended limitation or may cause confusion. The second amendment would authorize only the President to direct that communications between the President or the Secretary of Defense and the combatant commanders be transmitted through the JCS Chairman. The third amendment would authorize the President to assign duties to the Chairman to assist the President and Secretary of Defense in performing their command function.

The conferees agreed that the JCS Chairman should not be, or appear to be, placed in the chain of command. Moreover, the conferees determined that the extremely important chain of command to the warfighting commands should be clearly prescribed. Without infringing upon the President's authority as Commander in Chief to direct otherwise, the conference substitute amendment would specify the normal chain of command that the Congress finds to be preferable in terms of meeting national security needs and preserving civilian control of the military.

At the same time, the conferees agreed that the President and the Secretary of Defense will need the assistance of the JCS Chairman in exercising their command function. The conference substitute amendment would authorize the President to direct communications to and from the combatant commanders to be transmitted through the JCS Chairman and to assign duties to the JCS Chairman to assist the President and Secretary of Defense. Should such communications run through the JCS Chairman, the orders that come from the Chairman must be initiated by, authorized by, and in the name of the President or the Secretary of Defense. Even if the President should exercise these authorities, the conferees intend that (1) the JCS Chairman would not be part of the chain of command, and (2) the chain of command would not run through the JCS Chairman. The conferees determined that the role of the JCS Chairman regarding operational matters must be carefully prescribed in order to ensure the absolute and unquestioned integrity of the fundamental principle of civilian control of the military.

Sec. 163. Role of Chairman of Joint Chiefs of Staff

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 112) that would authorize the Secretary of Defense to assign responsibility to the JCS Chairman for overseeing the activities of the combatant commands. This provision would also specify that such an assignment to the JCS Chairman, however, would not (1) confer any command authority, or (2) alter the direct responsibility of the combatant commanders to the Secretary of Defense.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 101) that would specify that the JCS Chairman, subject to the authority, direction, and control of the Secretary of Defense, supervises the combatant commanders.

The House recesses. The conferees agreed that this authority would provide the Secretary of Defense with a means of providing for the more effective control and coordination of the combatant commands. Because the Secretary's span of control is great and the time that he can devote to supervisory activities is limited, the conferees believe that the JCS Chairman could usefully assist the Secretary in overseeing the combatant commands.

The conferees have purposely framed this provision to allow the Secretary of Defense complete latitude in defining the JCS Chairman's oversight role. The conferees believe that the Chairman's oversight of the combatant commanders should assume whatever character the Secretary of Defense considers appropriate. The conferees intend that the Chairman act only as the Secretary's agent in exercising oversight; that is, for and on behalf of the Secretary, and only by his authority. The conferees contemplate, however, that the Secretary would employ the Chairman in oversight capacities such as coordinating matters that involve two or more combatant commanders, directing the combatant commanders' submissions of requirements, overseeing the state of readiness of each combatant command, and verifying the execution of orders issued by the President and the Secretary of Defense.

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 112) that would reenact with amendments subsection (c)(2) of the current section 124 of title 10 that designates the JCS Chairman, subject to the authority, direction, and control of the Secretary of Defense, as the spokesman for the combatant commanders on their operational requirements. This provision would specify activities of the JCS Chairman in performing his responsibility as spokesman for the combatant commanders.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 101) that would provide that the JCS Chairman, subject to the authority, direction, and control of the Secretary of Defense, is the spokesman of the commanders of the combatant commands at the seat of Government.

The House recesses with an amendment to provide that the JCS Chairman will serve as the spokesman for the combatant commanders on all requirements of their commands, but especially on operational requirements.

Sec. 164. Commanders of combatant commands: assignment; powers and duties

Assignment of Combatant Commanders

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 112) that would provide that the President may assign to serve as commanders of unified combatant commands only officers who have served in one or more joint duty positions for a substantial period of time. This provision would also provide a Presidential waiver of this requirement in the case of any officer if the President determines that such action is necessary in the national interest.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 301) that would require the Secretary of Defense to establish policies to ensure, whenever practicable, the application of certain criteria to the selection of an officer for recommendation to the President for assignment as the commander of a unified or specified combatant command. The specified criteria would be that the officer have the joint specialty (as provided in section 301 of the House amendment) and have had at least one joint duty assignment as a general or flag officer.

The Senate recedes with amendments to require that the President may assign an officer to serve as a combatant commander only if he meets the criteria specified in the House provision, to provide a Presidential waiver of this requirement if the President determines that such action is necessary in the national interest, and to provide an appropriate transition provision for use by the President before full application of these new requirements. The transition provision is provided in section 214 of the conference substitute amendment.

Responsibilities of Combatant Commanders

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 112) that would specify that each combatant commander performs his duties under the authority, direction, and control of the Secretary of Defense and is directly responsible to the Secretary for the performance of his command and its preparedness to execute assigned missions.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with amendments to specify that, subject to the direction of the President, the combatant commander performs his duties and is responsible as provided in the Senate provision and to delete the portion of the Senate provision relating to "the performance of his [combatant commander's] command." The conferees agreed to the second amendment because a combatant commander is responsible to both the President and the Secretary of Defense for the performance of his command as provided in section 164(b)(1) of title 10 (as added by section 112 of the conference substitute amendment).

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 112) that would prescribe the basic responsibilities of each combatant commander concerning maintaining security, carrying out missions, and assigning tasks to, and directing coordination among, his subordinate commanders.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes. The conferees determined that these basic responsibilities would be more appropriately prescribed by administrative regulation.

Command Authority of Combatant Commanders

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 112) that would assign to each combatant commander the following authority over forces assigned to his command:

- (1) exercising full operational command over assigned forces, including all aspects of military operations and joint training,
- (2) prescribing the chain of command to, and organizational relationship among, the commands and forces within the command; and
- (3) coordinating and approving, as assigned by the Secretary of Defense after consultation with the Secretaries of the Military Departments and the combatant commander, those aspects of administration and support necessary for accomplishment of the missions assigned to the command.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 101) that would assign to each combatant commander the following authority over forces assigned to his command:

- (1) exercising command over assigned forces, meaning the authority to give authoritative direction to subordinate forces necessary to accomplish assigned missions;
- (2) training assigned forces; and
- (3) employing assigned forces to accomplish assigned missions.

The conferees determined that neither the term "full operational command" nor the term "command", as currently used within the Department of Defense, accurately described the authority that combatant commanders need to carry out effectively their duties and responsibilities. Accordingly, the conferees agreed to avoid the use of either term in the conference substitute amendment, but instead to specify the authority that the conferees believe a combatant commander needs.

The conference substitute amendment would provide that, unless otherwise directed by the President or the Secretary of Defense, the authority, direction, and control of the combatant commander over assigned commands and forces would include the command functions of:

- (1) giving authoritative direction to subordinate commands and forces necessary to carry out assigned missions, including authoritative direction over all aspects of military operations, joint training, and logistics;
- (2) prescribing the chain of command to the commands and forces within the command;
- (3) organizing commands and forces within the command as he considers necessary to carry out assigned missions;
- (4) employing forces within the command as he considers necessary to carry out assigned missions;
- (5) assigning command functions to subordinate commanders;
- (6) coordinating and approving those aspects of administration and support (including control of resources and equipment, internal organization, and training) and discipline necessary to carry out assigned missions; and

(7) exercising the authority with respect to selecting subordinate commanders, selecting combatant command staff, suspending subordinates, and convening courts-martial, provided, respectively, in subsections (e), (f), and (g) of section 164 of title 10 (as added by section 211 of this conference substitute amendment) and in section 822(a) of title 10 (as amended by section 211 of the conference substitute amendment).

The House amendment contained a provision (section 101) that would require the Secretary of Defense to ensure that combatant commanders have sufficient authority over assigned forces to exercise effective command over those forces.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with two amendments. First, the Secretary of Defense is to ensure, after consultation with the JCS Chairman, that the combatant commander has sufficient authority, direction, and control over both assigned commands and forces. The second amendment would require the Secretary of Defense to review periodically and, after consultation with the Secretaries of the Military Departments, the JCS Chairman, and the combatant commander, assign authority to the combatant commander for those aspects of administration and support that the Secretary considers necessary to carry out assigned missions.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 101) that would require a combatant commander to inform the Secretary of Defense promptly if at any time he considers his authority to be insufficient.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

Authority over Subordinate Commanders

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 112) that would provide, unless directed otherwise by the President or the Secretary of Defense, that commanders of commands and forces assigned to a combatant command are under the authority, direction, and control of, and are responsible to, the combatant commander on all matters for which he has been assigned full operational command or other authority.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment to delete "full operational command or other authority" and substitute "authority under subsection (c)" of section 164 of title 10 (as added by section 211 of the conference substitute amendment).

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 112) that would authorize, unless directed otherwise by the President or the Secretary of Defense, a combatant commander (1) to establish procedures for the communications of his subordinate commanders with other elements of the Department of Defense on any matter for which he has been assigned full operational command or other authority, and (2) to direct that he be advised of all other communications by his subordinate commanders.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with amendments to delete "full operational command or other authority" and substitute "authority under subsection (c)" of section 164 of title 10 (as added by section 211 of the conference substitute amendment) and to make these requirements apply to communications to and from the subordinate commanders.

Selection of Subordinate Commanders

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 112) that would require that the selection of a directly subordinate commander be made only with the concurrence of a combatant commander. This provision would authorize the Secretary of Defense to waive this requirement if he determines such action is necessary in the national interest.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 101) that would require the selection or the selection for recommendation to the President of a principal subordinate officer to be made by the combatant commander. The selection would be made from a list of officers submitted by the Secretary of the Military Department concerned, with the number of officers on such list to be specified by the combatant commander.

The House recedes with an amendment to require the concurrence of the combatant commander in the assignment or recommendation for assignment of an officer as a directly subordinate commander. The distinction between "assignment" and "recommendation for assignment" is necessary because 3- and 4-star officers are nominated by the President (under section 601 of title 10) to positions of importance and responsibility and are subject to confirmation by the Senate for service in those positions. Only after confirmation by the Senate are these officers actually "assigned" to their positions. Thus, for those positions, the officer is not directly assigned, but instead, is recommended to the President for assignment.

In agreeing to this provision, the conferees intend that the subordinate commanders perceive the combatant commander, rather than officers in the Military Departments, as the superior whom they serve. The requirement for concurrence should be exercised by a combatant commander to demonstrate unequivocally that he is the "hiring" authority.

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 112) that would require a combatant commander to evaluate the duty performance of each directly subordinate commander. The evaluation would be submitted to the Secretary of the Military Department concerned.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment to require each evaluation to be submitted to the JCS Chairman as well as to the Secretary of the Military Department concerned. The conferees intend that each evaluation of a directly subordinate commander submitted by a combatant commander to the Secretary of a Military Department concerned shall be made a part of the personnel record of the subordinate commander.

Combatant Command Staff

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 112) that would require each unified combatant command to have a joint staff with officers in key positions of responsibility from each Military Department having forces assigned to the command.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with two amendments. The first House amendment requires the specified combatant commands to have such a staff as well. This provision of the conference substitute amendment does not use the term "joint staff" as was used in the Senate amendment. Because the House amendment broadened this provision to include specified combatant commands, the term "staff" is more appropriate. Under certain circumstances, a specified combatant command may not have a joint staff.

The second House amendment specifies that positions of responsibility on the staff of the combatant command shall be filled by officers from each of the Armed Forces having significant forces assigned to the command. If significant forces of the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, or Air Force are assigned to the combatant command, the unified or specified combatant commander should be assisted by officers in positions of responsibility from that Armed Force.

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 112) that would require that all officers on the staff of a unified combatant command in the grade of colonel or Navy captain and above may be selected only with the concurrence of the unified combatant commander and only in accordance with procedures established by the Secretary of Defense.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 101) that would require the selection or the selection for recommendation to the President of all officers on the staffs of a unified or specified combatant command to be made by the combatant commander. The selection would be made from a list of officers submitted by the Secretary of the Military Department concerned, with the number of officers on such list to be specified by the combatant commander.

The House recedes with amendments to apply the Senate provision to the staffs of specified combatant commands as well as to the staffs of unified combatant commands, to apply the Senate provision to officers of all grades, to require the concurrence of the combatant commander in the selection or recommendation for nomination of each officer, and to provide authority for the Secretary of Defense to waive this requirement.

Authority to Suspend Subordinates

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 112) that would authorize combatant commanders to suspend from duty and recommend the reassignment of any officer assigned to their commands.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 101) that would make the tenure of an officer assigned to a combatant command subject to the approval of the combatant commander.

The House recedes. For clarification, the authority of a combatant commander provided by this provision of the conference substitute amendment would apply to each officer of his command at any level. The conferees agreed that procedures required by this provision pertain solely to the relationships between a combatant commander and the Military Department concerned with respect to service by an officer in a combatant command. The conferees agreed that nothing in this provision confers on an officer assigned to a combatant command any procedural rights concerning suspension from duty or reassignment.

Sec. 165. Combatant commands: administration and support

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 112) that would assign to the Secretary of Defense, with the advice and assistance of the JCS Chairman, responsibility for providing for the administration and support of forces assigned to each combatant command.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 101) that would require that the functions of the Secretary of Defense regarding the administration and support of forces assigned to combatant commands be carried out with the advice and assistance of the JCS Chairman.

The House recedes.

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 112) that would continue the current responsibility of the Secretaries of the Military Departments, subject to the authority, direction, and control of the Secretary of Defense, to provide administration and support for the forces that they have assigned to combatant commands. This provision would require this responsibility to be exercised consistent with the authority assigned to the combatant commanders for coordinating and approving certain aspects of administration and support.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (section 101) except that it would only cover the administration of forces assigned to combatant commands and that it would not make the exercise of the responsibility of the Secretaries of the Military Departments consistent with the authority assigned to combatant commanders.

The House recedes. The conferees agreed that, if there is a disagreement as to whether a particular disciplinary matter should be handled by a Military Department or a combatant command, the Secretary of Defense has ample authority to resolve the matter with respect to a particular case or class of cases.

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 112) that would authorize the Secretary of Defense, after consultation with the Secretaries of the Military Departments, to assign responsibility (or any part of the responsibility) for the administration and support of forces assigned to combatant commands to other components of the Department of Defense. Such responsibility would be exercised under the authority, direction, and control of the Secretary of Defense and consistent with the authority assigned to combatant commanders.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 101) that would authorize the Secretary of Defense to assign responsibility (or any part of the responsibility) for the support of forces assigned to a combatant command to one or more of the Military Departments, other agencies of the Department of Defense, or the combatant commander concerned. Unless the Secretary of Defense directs otherwise, the Secretary of each Military Department would be responsible for the support of forces assigned by that department to combatant commands.

The House recedes with an amendment to clarify that other components of the Department of Defense include Defense Agencies and combatant commands.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 101) that would provide that a combatant commander may submit to the Secretary of Defense a proposal for his command to perform a support function.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes. The conferees agreed that combatant commanders should actively identify support functions that their commands should, in their judgment, perform and forward appropriate recommendations to the Secretary of Defense. However, the conferees believed that this provision of the House amendment need not be specified in law.

Sec. 166. Combatant commands: budget proposals

The House amendment contained a provision (section 101) that would require the Secretary of Defense, after consultation with the JCS Chairman, to submit to the Congress a separate budget proposal for activities of the combatant commands which may include joint exercises, force training, contingencies, and selected operations.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 101) that would assign various responsibilities to the combatant commanders, the JCS Chairman, and the Secretary of Defense for submission and preparation of, and guidance for, the budget proposal for the activities of combatant commands.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes. The conferees believed that this provision of the House amendment was too detailed to include in statute. The conferees agreed, however, that the procedure specified in the House provision should be followed. In particular, the Chairman should review and analyze requests submitted by the combatant commanders, establish priorities in accordance with guidance provided by the Secretary, and recommend a budget for each command.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 101) that would specify that combatant commanders may have access to any net assessment conducted by an organization of the Department of Defense, may request assistance in preparing net assessments, and must include the results of net assessments performed by their commands in certain submissions.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes. The conferees believed that the House amendment was too detailed to include in statute. The conferees agreed, however, that:

(1) procedures should be established under which (a) a combatant commander could obtain the assistance of the Joint Staff and other Department of Defense organizations in performing net assessments required by the command; and (b) the findings, conclusions, and recommendations of net assessments conducted within the Department of Defense are made available to combatant commanders; and

(2) combatant commanders should (a) contribute, as appropriate, to net assessments performed by the Joint Staff; and (b) consider the findings and conclusions of net assessments relevant to their commands in evaluating the capabilities of their commands and in developing contingency plans.

Joint Commanders Council

The House amendment contained a provision (section 101) that would establish a Joint Commanders Council consisting of the JCS Chairman and the combatant commanders.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes. The conferees agreed that there is a need to improve communications among and between combatant commanders and urge the Secretary of Defense to take appropriate actions to achieve necessary improvements.

Court-Martial Jurisdiction

The House amendment contained a provision (section 101(b)) that would amend section 822(a) of title 10 to provide court-martial jurisdiction to the Secretary of Defense and to the commanding officer of a combatant command.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

SEC. 212. INITIAL REVIEW OF COMBATANT COMMANDS

The House amendment contained a provision (section 104) that would specify the matters to be considered in the initial review of the Unified Command Plan (as required by section 101 of the House amendment) and would require submission of the report of this initial review to the President not later than one year after the date of enactment.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with amendments to revise the matters to be considered in the initial review of the combatant commands (Unified Command Plan).

SEC. 213. REPEAL OF CERTAIN LIMITATIONS ON COMMAND STRUCTURE

The House amendment contained a provision (section 105(b)) that would repeal the prohibition in section 8106 of the Department of Defense Appropriations Act, 1986 (as contained in the Continuing Resolution for fiscal year 1986) against altering the command structure for military forces in Alaska.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.
The Senate recesses.

SEC. 214. TRANSITION

Assignment of Forces to Combatant Commands

The House amendment contained a provision (section 106(b)) that would require the assignment of forces to combatant commands, as provided in section 162 of title 10 (as added by section 101 of the House amendment), to take effect at the end of the 90-day period beginning on the date of enactment.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.
The Senate recesses.

Waiver of Qualifications for Assignment as Combatant Commander

As part of the action of the conference committee on section 164(a) of title 10 (as added by section 211 of the conference substitute amendment), the conferees agreed to authorize the President to waive the qualifications for assignment as a combatant commander during a transition period before full application of the requirements of section 164(a). Under section 214(b) of the conference substitute amendment, the President would be authorized to waive:

(1) for a 2-year period after enactment, the requirement that a combatant commander have the joint specialty;

(2) for a 4-year period after enactment, the requirement that a combatant commander have served in a joint duty assignment for 3 years if the commander has served in such an assignment for not less than 2 years; and

(3) for a 4-year period after enactment, the requirement that a combatant commander have served in a joint duty assignment as a general or flag officer if the commander served as a general or flag officer in an assignment that was considered a joint duty assignment or a joint equivalent assignment under regulations in effect at the time the assignment began.

Although section 164(a)(2) of title 10 (as added by section 211 of the conference substitute amendment) provides the President with authority to waive the requirements for assignment as a combatant commander, the conferees agreed to provide a specific waiver for a limited transition period so that the exercise of a Presidential waiver, as would be required in the immediate future, would not become standard practice. After the transition period, the conferees expect the President to exercise his permanent waiver authority only in a very limited number of cases and only for officers of exceptional talent who may fail to meet the specified criteria.

Selection and Suspension from Duty of Subordinate Officers

The House amendment contained a provision (section 106(d)) that would require the provisions of section 166 of title 10 (as added by section 101 of the House amendment) relating to the selection and tenure of officers subordinate to a combatant commander to take effect at the end of the 90-day period beginning on the date of enactment.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with amendments to apply this transition provision to subsections (e), (f), and (g) of section 164 of title 10 (as added by section 211 of the conference substitute amendment) and to provide that the Secretary of Defense may prescribe any earlier date.

Budget Proposals

The House amendment contained a provision (section 106(c)) that would require the portion of section 165 of title 10 (as added by section 101 of the House amendment) concerning program and budget proposals for the combatant commands to take effect with respect to proposals for fiscal year 1989.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

TITLE III—DEFENSE AGENCIES AND DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE FIELD ACTIVITIES

SEC. 301. ESTABLISHMENT AND MANAGEMENT OF DEFENSE AGENCIES AND DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE FIELD ACTIVITIES

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 116) that would:

- (1) redesignate sections 191 and 192 of chapter 8 of title 10 as sections 195 and 196;
- (2) establish two subchapters in chapter 8; and
- (3) add a new section 191 to chapter 8 dealing with Defense Agencies and Department of Defense Field Activities.

The House amendment contained a similar provision that would reorganize chapter 8 of title 10. The House amendment, however, would only apply to Defense Agencies and would not address Department of Defense Field Activities.

The House recedes to including provisions relating to Department of Defense Field Activities as a part of chapter 8 of title 10 and with an amendment to specify the organization of the chapter. The House amendment would:

- (1) redesignate section 191 as section 201 and transfer such section to a new subchapter II of chapter 8 of title 10, entitled "Miscellaneous Defense Agency Matters"; and
- (2) create a new subchapter I of chapter 8, entitled "Common Supply and Service Activities", with new sections 191 through 194 to accommodate the provisions contained in title III of the conference substitute amendment.

Sec. 191. Secretary of Defense: authority to provide for common performance of supply or service activities

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 116) that would provide authority for the Secretary of Defense to establish single agencies within the Department of Defense to perform common supply or service activities. The Senate provision would also require the Secretary of Defense to designate any such agency as a Defense Agency or a Department of Defense Field Activity.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (section 201).

The House recedes. Section 191 of title 10 (as added by section 301 of the conference substitute amendment) establishes a statutory framework for the Defense Agencies and Department of Defense Field Activities and governs the establishment of such specialized agencies and activities. Section 191 applies to all such agencies and activities including those in existence on the date of enactment. The conferees agreed that section 191 does not apply to the authority of the Secretary of Defense under section 113(d) of title 10 (as redesignated by section 101(a) of the conference substitute amendment) which permits the Secretary to designate a single Military Department as the executive agent for an activity that is common to more than one Military Department.

Sec. 192. Defense Agencies and Department of Defense Field Activities: oversight by the Secretary of Defense

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 116) that would require the Secretary of Defense to assign the overall supervision of each supply or service agency, except for the Defense Intelligence Agency and the National Security Agency, to certain officers within the Office of the Secretary of Defense or to the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. The provision would also require an official who was assigned such supervisory responsibility to advise the Secretary of Defense on the extent to which the program recommendations and budget proposals of the agency conform with the material requirements of the Military Departments and the operational requirements of the unified and specified combatant commands.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

The conferees intend that the civilian officers within the Office of the Secretary of Defense who could be assigned supervisory responsibility include those officers established by law or established or designated by the Secretary of Defense under section 131 of title 10 (as amended by section 104 of the conference substitute amendment).

By not requiring the assignment of a civilian officer or the JCS Chairman to supervise the Defense Intelligence Agency and the National Security Agency, the conferees do not intend to alter the authority of the Secretary of Defense to take such action himself.

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 116) that would require the Secretary of Defense to establish procedures to ensure the full and effective review of the program recommendations and budget proposals of each supply or service agency.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 116) that would require the Secretary of Defense periodically to assess the continuing need for each supply or service agency.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (section 201) that would require a review of Defense Agencies at least every other year to ensure that they, rather than the Military Departments, provide a more effective, economical, or efficient manner of providing common supplies and services. The House provision, in addition, would specify the Department of Defense officials whose views should be obtained as part of the review. Finally, the House provision would specify that the review requirement would apply to the National Security Agency only as determined appropriate by the Secretary of Defense.

The Senate recedes with two amendments. The first amendment requires the Secretary of Defense, in determining the extent of the National Security Agency review, to consult with the Director of Central Intelligence.

The second amendment deletes the specification of DoD officials whose views are to be obtained. The conferees agreed that, even though the requirement is not included in the conference substitute amendment, the Secretary of Defense should normally consult with the officials named in the House provision in conducting his review of the Defense Agencies. Those officials are the Directors of the Defense Agencies, the Secretaries of the Military Departments, the JCS Chairman, and the Chief of Staff of the Army, the Chief of Naval Operations, the Chief of Staff of the Air Force, the Commandant of the Marine Corps, and the commanders of the unified and specified combatant commands.

Sec. 193. Combat support agencies: oversight

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 116) that would make the JCS Chairman responsible for advising the Secretary of Defense on the preparedness of each supply or service agency that has wartime support responsibilities. The Chairman would be required, as a part of his duties, to assess the adequacy of contingency plans, participation in joint exercises, and readiness reporting systems of each supply or service agency.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (section 201) that would require the Chairman to:

(1) submit a report to the Secretary of Defense at least every 2 years on the readiness of combat support agencies (as would be defined by section 201 of the House amendment);

(2) review war-related support plans of combat support agencies in preparing the report to the Secretary of Defense and take action, in accordance with guidance provided by the Secretary of Defense, to revise the plans as needed;

(3) provide for the participation of combat support agencies in joint training exercises and assess their performance; and

(4) develop a uniform readiness reporting system for the combat support agencies in consultation with the agency directors.

The House amendment provision would apply to the National Security Agency only with respect to combat support functions the agency performs for the Department of Defense. The Secretary of Defense, after consultation with the Director of Central Intelligence, would be required to determine the application of the provision to the National Security Agency and report to the Congress any revision of the policies and procedures pertaining to the National Security Agency.

The Senate recedes with an amendment to delete the requirement that the Secretary of Defense report to the Congress on changes in the policies and procedures pertaining to the National Security Agency. The conferees agreed that, in carrying out his responsibilities under subsections (a), (b), and (c) of section 193 of title 10 (as added by section 301 of the conference substitute amendment), the JCS Chairman should:

- (1) review the directives and other administrative regulations governing combat support agencies; and
- (2) make recommendations to the Secretary of Defense on appropriate revisions to the directives and regulations.

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 116) that would require the Secretary of Defense, in consultation with the Director of Central Intelligence, to develop policies and programs to correct any deficiencies the JCS Chairman or other Department of Defense officials identified in the wartime support capabilities of the Defense Intelligence Agency and the National Security Agency.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recesses.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 201) that would define the term "combat support agency".

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recesses.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 201) that would require the director of a combat support agency to assign a representative of that agency to the headquarters of a combatant command if requested to do so by the commander of a combatant command.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recesses. The conferees agreed that a request from a combatant commander for assignment to his command of a combat support agency representative should be seriously considered by the director of the agency.

Sec. 194. Limitations on personnel

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 117(f)) that would prohibit future increases in the number of personnel assigned to Defense Agencies and Department of Defense Field Activities above the number assigned on September 30, 1988. The National Security Agency would be exempt from the requirements of the provision. The Senate amendment also contained a provision that would require reductions in personnel by September 30, 1988. That provision is now contained in title VI of the conference substitute amendment.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recesses with an amendment to change the effective date for the personnel cap to September 30, 1989.

SEC. 302. DEFINITIONS OF DEFENSE AGENCY AND DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE FIELD ACTIVITY

The House amendment contained a provision (section 201(b)) that would define the term "defense agency."

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recesses with two amendments. The first Senate amendment specifies that the term "Defense Agency" applies to an organizational entity as described in the House provision or to an organizational entity of the Defense Department that is designated by the Secretary of Defense as a "Defense Agency." The second Senate amendment adds the definition of the term "Department of Defense Field Activity."

SEC. 303. REASSESSMENT OF DEFENSE AGENCIES AND DOD FIELD ACTIVITIES

The House amendment contained a provision (section 202) that would require the Secretary of Defense, the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and the Secretaries of the Military Departments to conduct separate studies of the functions and organizational structure of the Defense Agencies to determine the most appropriate means within the Department of Defense of providing the supplies and services now provided by the agencies.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with three amendments. The first Senate amendment includes Department of Defense Field Activities in the studies. The second Senate amendment deletes a requirement contained in the House amendment that the Secretary consult with certain DoD officials in preparing his study. The conferees agreed that this requirement is not needed; the Secretary will find it necessary to consult with most, if not all, of the named officials in the course of conducting the required study. The third Senate amendment adds a requirement that the study by the Secretary of Defense include plans to achieve reductions of 5, 10, and 15 percent of the total number of personnel employed in the Defense Agencies and Department of Defense Field Activities on September 30, 1988, together with a discussion of the implications of each level of personnel reductions.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 203) that would require a report on the improved application of computer systems to Defense Agency functions and activities.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment to incorporate the computer report requirement into the report on the reassessment of Defense Agencies and Department of Defense Field Activities required by section 303 of the conference substitute amendment.

SEC. 304. TRANSITION

Periodic Review of Defense Agencies

The House amendment contained a provision (section 201(d)) that would require the first periodic review by the Secretary of Defense under section 192 of title 10 (as added by section 201 of the House amendment) to be completed within 3 years after enactment of the House amendment.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

Oversight of Combat Support Agencies

The House amendment contained a provision (section 201(d)) that would establish dates for implementation of the requirements imposed on the JCS Chairman and the Secretary of Defense in section 193 of title 10 (as added by section 201 of the House amendment). The provision would require an interim report on implementation by the Secretary of Defense.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recesses with an amendment to delete the requirement for an interim report.

Combat Support Functions of the National Security Agency

The House amendment contained a provision (section 201(d)) that would require the Secretary of Defense to carry out within 120 days the requirements with respect to the National Security Agency contained in subsection (d)(2) of section 193 of title 10 (as added by section 201 of the House amendment).

The Senate amendment contained on similar provision.

The House recesses.

TITLE IV—JOINT OFFICER PERSONNEL POLICY

The conferees determined that title IV of the conference substitute amendment provides the most effective policies for managing joint officers that can be developed with the information currently available to the Congress and the Department of Defense. Unfortunately, the Defense Department has given limited attention to the subject of joint officer management. Thus, only a limited base of information and only a few existing policies were available to guide the work of the conference committee. As a consequence, the conferees expect that unanticipated problems will be identified as the Defense Department implements the provisions of title IV of the conference substitute amendment and that adjustments will be necessary. It is for this reason that the conferees agreed to provide transition periods for use before many provisions become effective. In addition, the conferees expressed a willingness to consider promptly any adjustments to these provisions that the Secretary of Defense may recommend based upon insights that actual implementation may provide. This willingness should not, however, be interpreted as a lessening of the commitment of the Congress to an effective system for preparing and rewarding military officers for joint duty service or as permitting the Department to avoid or delay the required implementation.

SEC. 401. JOINT OFFICER MANAGEMENT

The House amendment contained a provision (section 301) that would add a new chapter 38 to title 10, United States Code, entitled Joint Officer Management.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recesses. The conferees agreed that the intent of the new chapter 38, and of the entire title IV of the conference substitute amendment, is to govern organizational relationships among elements of the Department of Defense (including the Office of the Secretary of Defense, the Military Departments, the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and the combatant commands) with respect to personnel policies related to joint duty assignments. Nothing in this title is intended to confer any rights on individual officers, and allegations of non-compliance with any provisions in this title do not provide a basis for invalidating any personnel action.

Sec. 661. Management policies for joint specialty officers

The House amendment contained a provision (section 301) that would establish an occupational category, referred to in the amendment as the "joint specialty", for officers trained in and oriented toward joint military matters. In addition, the provision would set out various requirements pertaining to the specialty: (1) how the total number of joint specialty officers would be determined and the number and type of joint duty assignments to which they would be assigned; (2) how joint specialty officers would be selected, including the nomination procedure and education and experience requirements; and (3) career guidelines for joint specialty officers.

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 115) that would require the Secretary of Defense to ensure that officers are well prepared to assume joint duty positions as a result of previous experience, formal education, and training.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would change the requirement for the Secretary of Defense to establish "an occupational category" for joint officers to a requirement to establish "policies, procedures, and practices for the effective management of officers . . . trained in, and oriented toward, joint matters. . . ." The conferees noted that the paragraph changed by the Senate amendment was intended to give the Secretary of Defense sufficient latitude in establishing the "joint specialty", including designating it with another term. The conferees believe that the Senate amendment provides the necessary latitude and unambiguously states the intent of the Congress that an effective system for the management of joint specialty officers be established.

Under section 661(c) of title 10 (as added by section 401 of the conference substitute amendment), an officer who is nominated for the joint specialty may not be selected for the specialty until he (1) successfully completes an appropriate program at a joint professional military education school, and (2) after completing such a program, successfully completes a full joint duty assignment. The purpose of this precise sequence is to ensure that qualified officers are assigned to joint duty assignments. The conferees agreed, however, that implementation of these particular requirements may demonstrate the need for flexibility in the sequence in which they must be fulfilled. Therefore, the conferees agreed that the Committees on Armed Services of the Senate and House of Representatives would more closely examine during the next year whether a limited number of officers should be exempted from the required sequence.

The conferees request that the Secretary of Defense consult with the Secretary of Transportation and advise the Congress whether any provision of chapter 38 of title 10, as added by title IV of the conference substitute amendment, should be applied to officers of the Coast Guard.

The second Senate amendment would transfer to section 402 of the conference substitute amendment the requirement that career guidelines for joint specialty officers established by the Secretary of Defense include guidelines to be furnished to officer selection boards, would elaborate the requirement in more detail, and would add appropriate instructions for selection boards to section 615 of title 10, United States Code. This amendment is considered in the discussion of section 402 below.

Sec. 662. Promotion policy objectives for joint officers

The House amendment contained a provision (section 302) that would require the Secretary of Defense to establish policies to ensure that Joint Staff officers, as a group, are promoted at a rate not less than the rate of officers assigned to Service headquarters staffs. The provision contained the same promotion rate requirement for joint specialty officers. A third requirement would specify promotion rate policies for officers serving in other joint duty assignments.

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 115) that would require the Secretary of Defense to ensure that the promotion, retention, and assignment policies of the Services provide sufficient incentives for officers to seek joint duty assignments.

The Senate recedes with two amendments. The first Senate amendment would eliminate the mandatory promotion rates and, instead, require the Secretary of Defense to ensure that the qualifications of officers assigned to joint duty assignments are such that the promotion rates specified in the House amendment will be achieved. The conferees agreed that the underlying objective of the provision concerning promotion rates is to ensure that highly capable officers are selected for joint duty assignments—in the case of the Joint Staff or joint specialty, outstanding officers who are, or will be, qualified as a group to be promoted at the same high rates as officers assigned to Service headquarters staffs. The Senate amendment, in focusing on the qualifications of officers selected for joint duty assignments, more accurately expresses congressional intent with respect to this provision.

The second Senate amendment would require the Secretary of Defense to report to the Congress no less often than every 6 months on the promotion rates of joint duty officers. In addition, if the promotion rates should fail to meet the established objectives, the Secretary of Defense would be required to notify the Congress immediately and explain what actions are being taken to prevent further failures. The conferees discourage any interpretation that the first Senate amendment suggests that the Congress is less committed to the objective of manning joint duty assignments with outstanding officers than the House amendment indicates. The second Senate amendment is intended to require notice whenever the Department of Defense fails to achieve the objectives originally established by the House amendment.

Sec. 663. Education

Capstone Course for New General and Flag Officers

The House amendment contained a provision (section 301) that would require, subject to a case-by-case waiver, that officers selected for promotion to brigadier general or rear admiral (lower half) attend a Capstone course to prepare them to work with the other armed forces.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recesses.

Professional Military Education Schools

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 115) that would require the Secretary of Defense to ensure that the curricula of joint military colleges and schools are oriented to preparing officers for joint duty assignments and that the curricula of the military colleges and schools of the Army, Navy, Air Force, and Marine Corps give appropriate emphasis to instruction in joint military matters.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 301) that would require the Secretary of Defense to review and revise the curricula of schools of the National Defense University and of other professional military education schools to strengthen the education of officers in joint matters.

The Senate recesses.

Duty Assignments After Attending Military Education Schools

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 115) that would require that a substantial percentage of graduates of joint schools receive joint duty assignments.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 301) that would impose requirements for the subsequent assignment of officers who attend joint professional military education schools to joint duty assignments, including a requirement that a proportion significantly greater than 50 percent of non-joint specialty officers graduating from a joint professional military education school receive joint duty assignments.

The Senate recesses with an amendment to delete the word "significantly" in the House amendment.

Other Education Requirements

The House amendment contained a provision (section 301) that would require the Secretary of Defense to take all other practicable measures to improve the training and experience of officers serving in senior joint duty assignments.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recesses.

Sec. 664. Length of joint duty assignments

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 115) that would require the Secretary of Defense to ensure continuity in joint organizations through appropriate joint tour lengths.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 301) that would establish 3 years as the length of a joint duty assignment for general and flag officers and 3½ years for all other officers. The tour length could be waived by the Secretary of Defense subject to certain limitations; also, the Secretary could establish shorter tour lengths for officers with critical combat operational skills, provided that their joint duty assignment was not less than two years.

The Senate recesses with an amendment to specify that the tour length requirements do not apply to officers who fail to complete a joint duty assignment as a result of retirement, separation from active duty, or suspension.

The conferees agreed that this provision is not intended to grant any individual tenure with respect to any assignment.

Sec. 665. Procedures for monitoring the careers of joint officers

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 115) that would require the Secretary of Defense to ensure that the personnel practices, policies, and procedures of the military Services enhance the abilities of joint duty officers.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 301) that would require the Secretary of Defense, with the advice of the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff (JCS), to establish procedures for overseeing the careers of officers with the joint specialty and other officers who serve in joint duty assignments.

The Senate recesses.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 301) that would make the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff responsible for advising the Secretaries of the Military Departments with respect to the duty assignments of joint specialty officers and other officers serving in joint duty assignments.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recesses. The conferees agreed that the JCS Chairman should, on his own initiative, assume the responsibility contained in the House amendment, but that there is no reason to specify this responsibility as a matter of law.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 301) that would require enhancement of Joint Staff capabilities to monitor the promotions and assignments of joint specialty officers and other joint duty officers and to advise the JCS Chairman on joint personnel matters.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recesses.

Sec. 666. Reserve officers not on the active duty list

The House amendment contained a provision (section 301) that would require the Secretary of Defense to establish personnel policies emphasizing training and experience in joint matters for reserve officers.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recesses.

Sec. 667. Annual report to Congress

The House amendment contained a provision (section 301) that would require the Secretary of Defense to submit, as a part of his annual report to Congress, a report on Joint Staff, joint specialty, and other officers who are serving, or have served, in joint duty assignments. The report would require information on:

- (1) the officers chosen for the joint specialty, including their education and experience;

- (2) the promotion rates for joint specialty officers and other officers serving in joint duty assignments compared with the promotion rates of officers in the Services;
- (3) assignments of joint specialty officers;
- (4) the average length of tours of duty in joint duty assignments; and
- (5) other matters.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recesses with three amendments. The first Senate amendment requires that the information in the report be shown separately for each Service as well as for the Department of Defense as a whole. The second Senate amendment requires the promotion rates to be shown for Joint Staff officers as well as joint specialty officers and other officers serving in joint duty assignments. The third Senate amendment requires an analysis of the extent to which each Military Department is providing its share of officers to fill joint duty assignments. (The House amendment contained a similar requirement in section 102.)

The conferees request that the information required by this provision be included in a portion of the annual report of the Secretary of Defense to Congress relating to management of the Department of Defense.

Sec. 668. Definitions

The House amendment contained a provision (section 301) that would define the term "joint matters" and would require the Secretary of Defense, subject to criteria set out in the provision, to define the term "joint duty assignment" and to publish a list of joint duty assignment positions.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recesses.

SEC. 402. PROMOTION PROCEDURES FOR JOINT OFFICERS

Composition of Selection Boards

The House amendment contained a provision (section 302) that would require that each selection (promotion) board that will consider officers who have served in joint duty assignments include at least one joint duty officer designated by the JCS Chairman. The House provision specified, however, that the Secretary of Defense could waive the requirement in the case of Marine Corps selection boards.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recesses. The conferees agreed that the only reason for the waiver provision for the Marine Corps is to give the Secretary of Defense needed flexibility when there are insufficient numbers of Marine Corps officers of the requisite grade assigned to joint duty assignments to carry out crucial joint duty responsibilities and to meet this selection board membership requirement. The conferees expect the Secretary of Defense to exercise this waiver rarely, if at all.

Guidance to Selection Boards

The House amendment contained a provision (section 301) that would require the Secretary of Defense to establish career guidelines for officers with the joint specialty, including information and guidelines to be furnished to officer selection boards.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recesses with an amendment that transfers the requirement for promotion guidelines to this section of the conference substitute amendment, further elaborates the requirement, and adds appropriate instructions for selection boards to section 615 of title 10. With respect to the guidelines to be established by the Secretary of Defense, the Senate amendment requires that the Secretary be assisted by the JCS Chairman and that the guidelines be furnished to the Secretaries of the Military Departments. The amendment specifies that their purpose is to ensure that each selection board gives appropriate consideration to the performance in joint duty assignments of officers who are serving, or have served, in such assignments. With respect to guidelines to selection boards, the Senate amendment requires that they be based on the guidelines received by the Secretary of a Military Department from the Secretary of Defense.

Review of Promotion Lists by the JCS Chairman

The House amendment contained a provision (section 302) that would amend section 618 of title 10 to modify the procedures for the review and transmittal of the report of an officer selection board. The House amendment would:

(1) require the JCS Chairman to review the report, in accordance with guidelines prescribed by the Secretary of Defense, after the Secretary of the Military Department concerned has reviewed the report;

(2) authorize the JCS Chairman to recommend officers for promotion who were considered by the board and who had served, or were serving, in joint duty assignments;

(3) authorize the Secretary of the Military Department concerned, if he disagreed with the recommendations of the Chairman, to return the report to the promotion board for further proceedings, convene a special promotion board, or take other appropriate action; and

(4) require remaining disagreements between the Secretary of the Military Department and the Chairman, after the Secretary took such action as he considered necessary in response to the Chairman's submission, to be decided by the Secretary of Defense.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recesses with four amendments. The first Senate amendment specifies that the JCS Chairman shall review the report of a selection board for the purpose of determining whether the board acted consistent with the guidelines established by the Secretary of Defense and otherwise gave appropriate consideration to the performance in joint duty assignments of officers who are serving, or have served, in joint duty assignments.

The second Senate amendment replaces the authority for the Chairman to recommend officers for promotion with a requirement that the Chairman, after reviewing the report of a selection board, return it with his determinations and comments to the Secretary of the Military Department concerned. The conferees recognize that the House amendment would have breached a long standing practice, with roots in law and tradition, that promotions are based on the action of impartial boards of officers rather than the judgment of any one individual. The conferees agree, however, that the Senate amendment is not intended to circumscribe the content (including the specificity) or presentation of the "deliberations and comments" prepared by the Chairman for the Secretary of the Military Department and, with respect to the fourth amendment described below, for the Secretary of Defense.

The third Senate amendment specifies actions that may be taken by the Secretary of the Military Department concerned if the Chairman determines that a board acted contrary to the guidelines of the Secretary of Defense or otherwise failed to give appropriate consideration to the performance of joint duty officers. The actions specified are the same as those contained in the House amendment for a Secretary of the Military Department to take in case the Chairman recommended officers for promotion, except that a Secretary is also authorized to convene a new selection board (as opposed to reconvening the original board).

The fourth Senate amendment modifies the remainder of the procedures contained in the House amendment to make them consistent with the first three amendments. It requires that remaining disagreements between the Chairman and the Secretary of a Military Department be referred to the Secretary of Defense with comments from both parties and that the Secretary of Defense take appropriate action.

SEC. 403. CONSIDERATION OF JOINT DUTY IN SENIOR GENERAL AND FLAG OFFICER APPOINTMENTS AND ADVICE ON QUALIFICATIONS

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 114) that would amend section 601 of title 10 to add a requirement that the JCS Chairman submit his evaluation of the joint service of officers recommended to the President for initial appointment to the grade of lieutenant general or vice admiral, or to the grade of general or admiral. The provision would further require that the Secretary of Defense submit the Chairman's evaluation to the President at the same time the recommendation for the appointment was submitted to the President.

The House amendment contained a similar provision.

The House recedes.

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 114) that would require the Secretary of Defense, each time a vacancy occurs in a military office or position within the Department of Defense that the President has designated as a position of importance and responsibility to carry the grade of general or admiral or lieutenant general or vice admiral, to inform the President of the qualifications needed by an appointee to carry out effectively the duties and responsibilities of that office or position.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment to apply the Senate requirement to offices for which the required grade is specified in law.

SEC. 404. JOINT DUTY ASSIGNMENT AS PREREQUISITE FOR PROMOTION
TO GENERAL OR FLAG OFFICER GRADE

The House amendment contained a provision (section 303) that would require, subject to a case-by-case waiver by the Secretary of Defense, that an officer may not be promoted to brigadier general or rear admiral (lower half) unless he has served in a joint duty assignment.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

SEC. 405. ANNUAL REPORT ON IMPLEMENTATION

The House amendment contained a provision (section 304) that would require the Secretary of Defense to include in his annual report to the Congress a report on the implementation of the joint personnel policy title of the House amendment.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes. The conferees request that the information required by this provision be included in a portion of the annual report of the Secretary to the Congress relating to management of the Department of Defense.

SEC. 406. TRANSITION

Joint Duty Assignments

The House amendment contained a provision (section 305) that would require the Secretary of Defense to ensure that about one-half of the joint duty assignments in grades above captain or Navy lieutenant are always filled by officers who have (or have been nominated for) the joint specialty as rapidly as possible and not later than 2 years after the date of enactment.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

Joint Specialty

The House amendment contained a provision (section 305) that would provide special rules for the Secretary of Defense to apply in making the initial selection of officers for the joint specialty during a 2-year transition period.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that modifies the procedures for the initial selection of joint specialty officers in several ways.

The amendment deletes the requirement that the Secretary of Defense make the initial selection of officers from among officers in such grades as the Secretary determines. The conferees agreed that the conference substitute amendment makes this requirement unnecessary. The Senate amendment eliminates the distinction between general and flag officers and all other officers in the "special rules" for initial selections in the House amendment. The conferees agree that the revised transition provisions make this distinction unnecessary. The Senate amendment further specifies how the specific provisions of title IV of the conference substitute amendment may be waived during the initial transition period. Finally, the amendment modifies the waiver procedure for the initial selection of joint specialty officers to require that the waiver authority may be delegated only to the Deputy Secretary of Defense, may be applied only on a case-by-case basis, and shall be exercised in a manner that ensures that the highest standards of performance, education, and experience are established and maintained for officers selected for the joint specialty.

Career Guidelines

The House amendment contained a provision (section 305) that would require the establishment of career guidelines, procedures for monitoring the careers of joint duty officers, and reserve officer personnel policies not later than 6 months after the date of enactment. The provision would also require the enhancement of the Joint Staff's capability to monitor joint personnel matters not later than 6 months after the date of enactment.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment to extend the period of time for the establishment of these policies and capabilities to 8 months.

Education

The House amendment contained a provision (section 305) that would specify the transition periods for the requirements for the Capstone course and the review of the professional military education schools. The provision would require that the revised curricula at these schools take effect with respect to courses beginning after August 1987.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision. The Senate recedes with two amendments. First, the revised curricula is to take effect with respect to courses beginning after July 1987. Second, the requirements for post-education duty assignments are to take effect with respect to classes graduating from joint professional military education schools after January 1987.

Length of Joint Duty Assignments

As part of the action of the conference committee on section 664 of title 10 (as added by section 401 of the conference substitute amendment), the conferees agreed to apply the new requirements for the length of joint duty assignments to officers assigned to such positions after the end of the 90-day period beginning on the date of enactment. Moreover, the conferees intend that the Secretary of Defense, in computing the average required by section 664, consider only joint duty assignments to which the section applies.

Promotion Policy

The House amendment contained a provision (section 305) that would specify the transition periods for changes to the composition and review process of selection boards considering joint duty officers. The provision would also specify the transition period for implementation of the mandatory promotion rates provided in section 302 of the House amendment.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment to delete the transition period for implementation of the mandatory promotion rates. This transition period is rendered unnecessary by a Senate amendment to section 302 of the House amendment.

Annual Report on Joint Duty Officers

As part of the action of the conference committee on section 667 of title 10 (as added by section 401 of the conference substitute amendment), the conferees agreed that the first annual report submitted by the Secretary of Defense after the date of enactment shall contain as much of the information required by section 667 as is available to the Secretary at the time of the preparation of the report.

TITLE V—MILITARY DEPARTMENTS

SEC. 501. THE ARMY SECRETARIAT; SEC. 511. THE NAVY SECRETARIAT;
AND SEC. 521. THE AIR FORCE SECRETARIAT

Administrative Assistant

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 201(a)(2)) that would delete the statutory requirement, as provided in existing section 3016 of title 10, for an Administrative Assistant in the Department of the Army.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 401 (b)(7)) that would prohibit the abolishment of the position of Administrative Assistant in the Department of the Army and that would authorize the Departments of the Navy and Air Force to have a similar position.

The Senate recedes.

Composition of the Department of the Navy

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 304) that would establish a new chapter 518 of title 10 (Composition of the Department of the Navy) and would reenact in such chapter the third and fourth sentences of existing section 5011 and all of existing sections 5012 and 5013 of title 10.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 101(c)) that would:

(1) amend section 5012 of title 10 to delete the portion specifying that the Navy "is generally responsible for naval reconnaissance, antisubmarine warfare, and protection of shipping"; and

(2) provide a free-standing provision of law that would clarify the authority of the President and the Secretary of Defense to assign missions, roles, and functions to the Military Departments, unified and specified combatant commands, and other elements of the Department of Defense.

The House recedes to the establishment of a new chapter 507 (Composition of the Department of the Navy) of title 10, the transfer of existing sections 5012 and 5013 to such chapter, and the addition of a new section 5061 on the composition of the Department of the Navy. The Senate recedes to section 101(c) of the House amendment with an amendment to delete the free-standing provision. The conferees agreed that the amendment to the responsibilities of the Navy, as provided by section 101(c) of the House amendment, does not affect the authority of the President or the Secretary of Defense to assign responsibilities to the Navy.

Seal for the Department of the Navy

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 301) that would require the Secretary of the Navy to have a seal for the Department of the Navy, the President to approve the design of the seal, and judicial notice to be taken of the seal.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Secretaries of the Army, Navy, and Air Force

The Senate amendment contained provisions (sections 201, 301, and 401) that would require the Secretary of a Military Department to be appointed from civilian life by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate.

The House amendment contained no similar provisions.

The House recedes.

The Senate amendment contained provisions (sections 201, 301, and 401) that would prohibit a person being appointed Secretary of a Military Department within 5 years after his relief from active duty as a commissioned officer of a regular component of an Armed Force.

The House amendment contained no similar provisions.

The House recedes with an amendment to increase the required period of separation from active duty to 10 years. The conferees determined that the key civilian control role of the Secretary of a Military Department requires a longer period of separation from active duty than would be provided by the provisions of the Senate amendment. The requirement for the Secretary of a Military Department, as provided by the conference substitute amendment, would be the same as is now required for the Secretary of Defense, Deputy Secretary of Defense, and Under Secretary of Defense for Policy.

The Senate amendment contained provisions (sections 201, 301, and 401) that would provide that the performance of duties by the Secretary of a Military Department is subject to the authority, direction, and control of the Secretary of Defense and to the provisions of chapter 6 of title 10 (as added by section 112 of the Senate amendment) related to the combatant commands.

The House amendment contained no similar provisions.

The House recedes.

The Senate amendment contained provisions (sections 201, 301, and 401) that would specify that the Secretary of a Military Department is responsible for and has the authority necessary to conduct all affairs of his Department, including 12 specified functions.

The House amendment contained no similar provisions.

The House recedes with an amendment to clarify that the specified function of "administering" includes the morale and welfare of personnel. The conferees determined that the functions of supplying, servicing, and maintaining, in combination, include the major elements of what is referred to as "logistics."

The Senate amendment contained provisions (sections 201, 301, and 401) that would specify seven responsibilities of the Secretary of a Military Department to the Secretary of Defense.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 404) that would specify two responsibilities for the Secretary of a Military Department. One of these responsibilities is identical to one specified by the Senate amendment. The other responsibility would require the Secretary of a Military Department to ensure the operational readiness of forces under his jurisdiction.

The House recedes.

The Senate amendment contained provisions (sections 201, 301, and 401) that would specify other powers and duties of the Secretary of a Military Department.

The House amendment contained no similar provisions.

The House recedes.

Offices of the Secretaries of the Army, Navy, and Air Force

The Senate amendment contained provisions (sections 201, 301, and 401) that would:

(1) establish in law the Office of the Secretary of each Military Department;

(2) specify the function and composition of each Office;

(3) require the Secretary of each Military Department to ensure that his Office is not duplicating specific functions that he has assigned to the military headquarters staff or staffs of his Department; and

(4) require a 15-percent reduction by September 30, 1988 in the number of personnel assigned to each Office, use the number of personnel assigned to each Office on September 30, 1985 as the baseline for each reduction, and set this reduced personnel level as a permanent ceiling after such date.

The Senate amendment also contained provisions (sections 202, 302, 303, and 402) that would:

(1) require a 15-percent reduction by September 30, 1988 in the total number of personnel assigned to each of the Army Staff, the Office of the Chief of Naval Operations, the Headquarters, Marine Corps, and the Air Staff; use the number of personnel assigned to each staff on September 30, 1985 as the baseline for each reduction; and set this reduced personnel level as a permanent ceiling for each staff after such date; and

(2) limit the number of officers that may be assigned after September 30, 1988 as follows:

(A) the Office of the Secretary of the Army and the Army Staff—1,825 officers;

(B) the Office of the Chief of Naval Operations—1,300 officers;

(C) the Headquarters, Marine Corps—325 officers; and

(D) the Office of the Secretary of the Air Force and the Air Staff—1,575 officers.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 401) that would:

(1) require the Secretary of Defense to reorganize the executive part of each Military Department in accordance with policies specified in section 401 of the House amendment;

(2) require a single integrated staff for the executive part of each Military Department;

(3) prohibit the organization of officers as a separate component within the single integrated staff (other than the personal staff of a Service Chief of Staff);

(4) require that the functional assignments of the assistant secretaries of the Military Departments be as uniform as possible across the Military Departments;

(5) specify that civilian political appointees shall not be placed in positions subordinate to military officers;

(6) direct that the size of the Military Department staffs be substantially reduced and that functions be shifted to appropriate joint staffs or to subordinate commands of the Military Departments;

(7) prohibit the abolishment or consolidation of functions relating to the reserve components with other elements of the staff (other than the consolidation of existing military staff and civilian staff functions relating to the reserve components);

(8) prohibit any future administrative reorganization of the Military Departments that are inconsistent with items (1) through (7); and

(9) specify that the authority of the Service Chief of Staff to exercise supervisory control over members of the Armed Forces under his jurisdiction, especially with respect to personnel matters, remains unchanged.

The House amendment also contained a provision (section 402) that would:

(1) specify the composition of the single integrated staff of each Military Department;

(2) provide that each Secretary of a Military Department and each Service Chief of Staff may have a personal staff of not more than 30 persons (not counting the Administrative Assistant and his staff);

(3) reduce the total number of personnel assigned to the single integrated staff in each Military Department by 15 percent from the combined number previously assigned to the Office of the Secretary of a Military Department and military headquarters staff or staffs; and

(4) require the Secretary of Defense to ensure that the personnel reduction required by item (3) results in a reduction in the number of persons assigned to duty in the Washington, D.C. area.

The House amendment also contained a provision (section 403) that would:

(1) require the Secretary of Defense to shift to the Joint Staff the operation and planning responsibilities in each Military Department that are duplicated by the Joint Staff; and

(2) require the Secretary of Defense and the Secretaries of the Military Departments to provide that functions that may be performed by subordinate commands outside the Washington, D.C. area are reassigned to those commands.

The House amendment also contained a provision (section 405) that would:

(1) require the implementation by September 30, 1987 of the integration of the top headquarters staffs of each Military Department and related personnel reductions;

(2) require the Secretary of Defense to submit a report on such implementation to Congress 30 days after implementation; and

(3) require such report to include a draft of legislation to make conforming changes to title 10 and other appropriate provisions of law.

The House amendment also contained a provision (section 406) that would define the term "Service Chief."

The House recedes with amendments to:

(1) require that each Office of the Secretary of a Military Department have sole responsibility for the following functions:

(A) acquisition;

(B) auditing;

(C) comptroller (including financial management);

(D) information management;

(E) inspector general;

(F) legislative affairs; and

(G) public affairs.

(2) require each Secretary of a Military Department to establish or designate a single office or other entity within his Office to conduct each function specified in item (1);

(3) provide that no office or other entity within the military headquarters staff or staffs may be established or designated to conduct any of the functions specified in item (1);

(4) require each Secretary of a Military Department to prescribe the relationship of each office or other entity established or designated under item (2) to the Chief of Staff and to the military headquarters staff or staffs;

(5) require each Secretary of a Military Department to ensure that each office or other entity established or designated under item (2) provides the Chief of Staff such staff support as the Chief of Staff considers necessary to perform his duties and responsibilities;

(6) specify that the vesting in each Office of the Secretary of a Military Department of the responsibility for the conduct of a function specified in item (1) does not preclude other elements of the executive part of the Military Department (including the military headquarters staff or staffs) from providing advice or assistance to the Chief of Staff or otherwise participating in that function within the executive part of the Department under the direction of the office assigned responsibility for that function in the Office of the Secretary of a Military Department;

(7) require that each Office of the Secretary of a Military Department have sole responsibility for the function of research and development, except that the Secretary may assign to the military headquarters staff or staffs those aspects of the function of research and development that relate to military requirements and test and evaluation;

(8) require each Secretary of a Military Department to establish a single office within his Office to conduct the function of research and development and to specify the relationship of such office to the Service Chief of Staff;

(9) require implementation of items (1) through (8) not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of the conference substitute amendment;

(10) require a report to the Congress from each Secretary of a Military Department on the implementation of items (1) through (8) not later than 210 days after the date of enactment of the conference substitute amendment;

(11) require each Secretary of a Military Department to ensure that his Office and the military headquarters staff or staffs of his Military Department do not duplicate specific functions for which he has assigned responsibility to the other;

(12) require a 15-percent reduction by September 30, 1988 in the combined number of personnel assigned to the Office of the Secretary of a Military Department and the military headquarters staff or staffs in each Military Department, use the number of personnel assigned to the Office and staff or staffs in each Military Department on September 30, 1986 (instead of 1985) as the baseline for each reduction, and set the reduced level as a permanent ceiling;

(13) limit the number of officers that may be assigned after September 30, 1988 as follows:

(A) the Office of the Secretary of the Army and the Army Staff—1,865 officers;

(B) the Office of the Secretary of the Navy, the Office of the Chief of Naval Operations, and the Headquarters, Marine Corps—1,720 officers; and

(C) the Office of the Secretary of the Air Force and the Air Staff—1,585 officers.

(14) require a 15-percent reduction by September 30, 1988 in the combined number of general and flag officers assigned to the Office of the Secretary of a Military Department and the military headquarters staff or staffs in each Military Department, use the number of general and flag officers assigned on the date of enactment as the baseline for each reduction, and set the reduced level as a permanent ceiling;

(15) establish in law the position of the General Counsel of each Military Department; and

(16) amend subsections (c) and (d) of existing section 3031 of title 10 to delete the authority for, and limitations on, the Army General Staff.

In designating functions for which each Office of the Secretary of a Military Department should have sole responsibility, the conferees selected functions that are either civilian in nature or key to effective civilian control. Although such offices would exist solely in the Secretariats of each Military Department, the conferees intend that such offices would provide necessary support to all organizations of the executive part of the Military Department concerned. In particular, the conferees fully expect that the Chief of Staff will have full access to these offices and that they will be completely responsive to his needs for support and assistance. Several of these functions are already consolidated in the Office of the Secretary of a Military Department. Under current practice, a deputy or another senior official in each office works closely with the Chief of Staff to ensure that his needs are met. The conferees expect that this practice will continue in existing consolidated offices and may be used in newly consolidated offices.

The conferees intend that the function of comptroller, for which each Office of the Secretary of a Military Department would have sole responsibility, need not include the functions of requirements and programs.

Sections 3014(c)(2), 5014(c)(2), and 8014(c)(2) of title 10 (as added by sections 501, 511, and 521 of the conference substitute amendment) provide that no office within the military headquarters staff or staffs may be established or designated to conduct any of the seven functions for which the Office of the Secretary of the Military Department is assigned sole responsibility. The conferees selected the language "no office" with care. The intent of the conferees is that no office within the military headquarters staff may be established, designated, or dedicated to performing any of these functions on a permanent basis. However, officers, officials, or members of the Armed Forces assigned to a military headquarters staff may provide advice or assistance to the Chief of Staff or otherwise participate in a function under the direction of the office assigned responsibility for that function in the Office of the Secretary of a Military Department.

In agreeing that no office shall be "established or designated" within the military headquarters staff to conduct functions which are the sole responsibility of the Office of the Secretary of a Military Department, the conferees intend "designated" to mean a formal designation of an existing office as responsible for such a function. The conferees do not intend that the mere direction to an office to provide advice or assistance or otherwise temporarily participate in a function is a designation within the meaning of this provision.

The conferees recognize that the consolidation of functions within the Office of each Secretary of a Military Department will pose unique problems for the Department of the Navy because of the existence of two separate Armed Forces within that Department—the Navy and the Marine Corps. The conferees want it clearly understood that nothing in the legislation is intended to impair the ability of the Commandant of the Marine Corps to carry out his responsibilities to the Secretary of the Navy to organize, train, and equip Fleet Marine Forces of combined arms, together with supporting air components, for service with the fleet, or any other of his responsibilities under section 5203 of title 10 (as added by section 513 of the conference substitute amendment).

With regard to the seven functions for which the Office of the Secretary of the Navy is to have sole responsibility, the conferees recognize that certain aspects of those functions are unique to the interests of the Marine Corps. The conferees intend that the performance of these functions should fully recognize, as the Commandant considers to be appropriate, the particular interests of the Marine Corps and should fully enable the Commandant to represent those interests in the same manner as the other Chiefs of Staff are able to represent the particular interests of their Armed Force.

In this regard, the conferees appreciate that particular care must be taken by the Secretary of the Navy to ensure that the Marine Corps, which has fewer personnel to devote to staff duty than the Navy, receives evenhanded treatment in organizing, manning, establishing work priorities, and otherwise structuring and operating the consolidated offices. The conferees determined that consolidated offices should include appropriate numbers of Marine generals and other Marine officers to ensure that the interests of the Marine Corps will be represented and that the Commandant will receive appropriate support from these offices.

The conferees also intend that the Headquarters, Marine Corps, shall have an appropriate share of the total number of general officers, other members of the Armed Forces, and civilian employees of the Department of the Navy authorized in section 5014(f) of title 10 (as added by section 511 of the conference substitute amendment) for the Office of the Secretary of the Navy, the Office of the Chief of Naval Operations, and the Headquarters, Marine Corps.

With respect to the actions of the conference committee concerning the function of research and development, the conferees intend that each Office of the Secretary of a Military Department should have an augmented role in the research and development activities of the Military Department concerned. In particular, the conferees agreed that there is a need for more effective policy and resource oversight by each Office in the initial phases of research and development programs.

The conferees determined that consolidation of the function of acquisition in each Office of the Secretary of a Military Department was consistent with the recommendations of the President's Blue Ribbon Commission on Defense Management.

The conferees agreed that each Service should have a separate military headquarters staff within the executive part of its Military Department. This staff should continue to conduct the functions for which effective representation of the military point of view is invaluable to the work of the Military Department. Key among these functions are:

- (1) manpower and personnel;
- (2) logistics;
- (3) installations;
- (4) operations and plans;
- (5) requirements and programs;
- (6) intelligence; and
- (7) command, control, and communications.

The conferees agreed that the continued existence of separate military headquarters staffs will ensure that defense decisionmaking is assisted by independent and well-developed military perspectives.

Although the conferees determined that the Office of the Secretary and the military headquarters staff or staffs of each Military Department should remain separately organized, the conferees remain concerned about the unnecessary duplication of effort between these Offices and staffs. Sections 3014(e), 5014(e), and 8014(e) of title 10 (as added by sections 501, 511, and 521 of the conference substitute amendment) would require each Secretary of a Military Department to eliminate such duplication. The conferees expect the Secretaries of the Military Departments to take this responsibility seriously. The 15-percent reductions in the total number of personnel assigned to the top management headquarters are designed, in part, to force a comprehensive management review of such duplication and the formulation of effective solutions.

The conferees also remain concerned about two other problems:

(1) the significant number of personnel assigned to duty in the Washington, D.C. area; and

(2) duplication by the military headquarters staffs of each Military Department of operations and plans functions that are performed by the Joint Staff.

In implementing subsections (c), (d), (e), and (f) of sections 3014, 5014, and 8014 of title 10 (as added by sections 501, 511, and 521 of the conference substitute amendment), the Secretaries of the Military Departments shall take appropriate action to solve these problems. In the implementation reports that would be required by section 532(b) of the conference substitute amendment, the conferees agreed to direct each Secretary of a Military Department to inform the Congress on:

(1) the number of personnel positions that have been transferred to duty positions outside the Washington, D.C. area;

(2) the functions that have been reassigned to subordinate commands and organizations outside the Washington, D.C. area;

(3) the aspects of the functions of operations and plans that are required to be performed by the military headquarters staff or staffs of the Military Department;

(4) the aspects of the functions of operations and plans that were previously performed by the military headquarters staff or staffs of the Military Department that duplicated aspects of the functions performed by the Joint Staff and that will no longer be performed by the military headquarters staff or staffs of the Military Department; and

(5) the number of personnel positions that have been eliminated in the military headquarters staff or staffs in the Military Department as a result of the determinations in item (4).

The conferees agreed to delete the authority for, and limitations on, the Army General Staff because the Army no longer uses this staff designation. Thus, statutory specification of the Army General Staff is no longer needed.

Under Secretaries of the Army, Navy, and Air Force

The Senate amendment contained provisions (sections 201, 301, and 401) that would:

(1) require the Under Secretary of a Military Department to be appointed from civilian life by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate; and

(2) specify that the Under Secretary of a Military Department shall perform such duties and exercise such powers as the Secretary of the Military Department may prescribe.

The House amendment contained no similar provisions.

The House recesses.

Assistant Secretaries of the Army, Navy, and Air Force

The Senate amendment contained provisions (sections 201, 301, and 401) that would:

(1) require the Assistant Secretaries of a Military Department to be appointed from civilian life by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate;

(2) authorize five Assistant Secretaries for the Army, four Assistant Secretaries for the Navy, and three Assistant Secretaries for the Air Force;

(3) specify that the Assistant Secretaries of a Military Department shall perform such duties and exercise such powers as the Secretary of the Military Department may prescribe;

(4) require each Military Department to have an Assistant Secretary for Manpower and Reserve Affairs; and

(5) require the Army to have an Assistant Secretary for Civil Works.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 402(b)) that would:

(1) specify seven areas of responsibility to be assigned to the Assistant Secretaries of each Military Department;

(2) specify that the civil works function is to be assigned to an Assistant Secretary of the Army; and

(3) authorize five Assistant Secretaries for the Army, four Assistant Secretaries for the Navy, and four Assistant Secretaries for the Air Force.

The House recesses.

Successors to Duties of Secretary of a Military Department

The Senate amendment contained provisions (sections 201, 301, and 401) that would specify the successors to the duties of the Secretary of a Military Department if he dies, resigns, is removed from office, is absent, or is disabled.

The House amendment contained no similar provisions.

The House recesses.

General Counsels

As part of the conference agreement on provisions relating to each Office of the Secretary of a Military Department, the conferees agreed to establish in law the position of General Counsel in each Military Department. Sections 3019, 5019, and 8019 of title 10 (as added by sections 501, 511, and 521 of the conference substitute amendment) would:

(1) establish the position of General Counsel in each Military Department;

(2) require each General Counsel of a Military Department to be appointed from civilian life by the President; and

(3) specify that the General Counsel of a Military Department shall perform such functions as the Secretary of the Military Department may prescribe.

The action of the conference committee merely recognizes in law a position that already exists in each Military Department and eliminates confusion caused by the absence of statutory specification.

Inspector Generals

The Senate amendment contained provisions that would:

(1) assign the Inspector Generals of the Army, Navy, and Air Force to the Office of the Secretary of their Military Department; and

(2) establish in law the position of Inspector General of the Air Force and specify his assignment and duties.

The House amendment contained no similar provisions.

The House recedes with an amendment to require the Inspector Generals of the Army, Navy, and Air Force to cooperate fully with the Inspector General of the Department of Defense in the performance of any of his duties or responsibilities under the Inspector General Act of 1978.

Army Reserve Forces Policy Committee and the Air Reserve Forces Policy Committee

The Senate amendment contained provisions (sections 201 and 401) that would amend sections 3021 and 8021 (as redesignated, respectively, by sections 501 and 521 of the conference substitute amendment) to assign responsibility to the Army Reserve Forces Policy Committee and the Air Reserve Forces Policy Committee for review and comment on policies for mobilization preparedness.

The House amendment contained no similar provisions.

The House recedes.

Repeal of Chapters

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 301(c)(3)) that would repeal chapter 505 (Secretary, Under Secretary, and Assistant Secretaries of the Navy) and chapter 507 (Office of the Comptroller of the Navy) of title 10.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

SEC. 502. THE ARMY STAFF; SEC. 512. OFFICE OF THE CHIEF OF NAVAL OPERATIONS; SEC. 513. HEADQUARTERS, MARINE CORPS; AND SEC. 522. THE AIR STAFF

Top Military Headquarters Staffs of the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, and Air Force

The Senate amendment contained provisions (sections 202, 302, 303, and 402) that would establish in law the top military headquarters staff of each Armed Force and specify its function and composition. These provisions would also specify that each such staff, except as otherwise prescribed by law, shall be organized, and its members shall perform such duties and have such titles, as the Secretary of the Military Department may prescribe.

The House amendment contained no similar provisions.
The House recedes.

General Duties

The Senate amendment contained provisions (sections 202, 302, 303, and 402) that would specify the general duties of the top military headquarters staff of each Armed Force.

The House bill contained no similar provisions.

The House recedes with amendments to:

(1) make performance of the first of these general duties subject to subsections (c) and (d) of sections 3014, 5014, and 8014 of title 10 (as added, respectively, by sections 501, 511, and 521 of the conference substitute amendment); and

(2) clarify the authority of these staffs to coordinate the action of organizations of their Armed Force.

Chiefs of Staff

The Senate amendment contained provisions (sections 202, 302, 303, and 402) that would specify the appointment, term of office, and powers and duties of the Chief of Staff of the Army, Chief of Naval Operations, Commandant of the Marine Corps, and Chief of Staff of the Air Force.

The House amendment contained no similar provisions.

The House recedes with amendments to:

(1) ensure that keeping the Secretary of a Military Department informed on advice rendered by a JCS member, under section 151 of title 10 (as added by section 201 of the conference substitute amendment), on matters affecting his Department does not lessen the independence of the Chief of Staff in performing his JCS duties;

(2) make the requirement of keeping the Secretary of a Military Department fully informed of significant military operations subject to the authority, direction, and control of the Secretary of Defense; and

(3) specify that the obligation of the Chief of Staff to keep the Secretary of a Military Department informed on significant military operations is with respect to matters affecting the responsibilities of the Secretary.

Retirement of the Chief of Naval Operations and the Commandant of the Marine Corps

The Senate amendment contained provisions (sections 302 and 303) that would reenact the provisions of title 10 (sections 5083 and 5201(c)) related to the retirement of the Chief of Naval Operations and the Commandant of the Marine Corps that existed at the time the Senate amendment passed the Senate.

The House amendment contained no similar provisions.

The Senate recedes. Section 104 of the Military Retirement Reform Act of 1986 (Public Law 99-348) repealed the last sentence of both sections 5083 and 5201(c). The effect of the Senate receding would be to reenact sections 5083 and 5201(c) as amended by Public Law 99-348.

In examining sections 5083 and 5201(c), the conferees noted inconsistencies between these provisions and other provisions of title

10, especially sections 3962 and 8962, concerning the retirement of officers who are serving, or have served, in a position for which the grade is specified in law. The conferees agreed to direct the Secretary of Defense to submit a legislative proposal, as part of the submission required by section 604 of the conference substitute amendment, to make consistent or appropriately amend the retirement provisions for all officers serving or having served in positions for which the grade is specified in law.

Qualifications for Appointment as Chief of Staff

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 111) that would provide that the President may assign to serve as members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff only officers who have served in one or more joint duty positions for a substantial period of time. The provision would also provide a waiver of this requirement in the case of any officer if the President determines that such action is necessary in the national interest.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 301) that would require the Secretary of Defense to establish policies to ensure, whenever practicable, the application of certain criteria to the selection of an officer for recommendation to the President for assignment as the Chief of Staff of an Armed Force. The specified criteria would be that the officer have had significant experience in joint duty assignments and that such experience include at least one joint duty assignment as a general or flag officer.

The Senate recedes with amendments to require that the President may assign an officer to serve as a Chief of Staff only if he meets the criteria specified in the House provision, to provide a waiver of this requirement if the President determines that such action is necessary in the national interest, and to provide appropriate transition provisions for use by the President before full application of these new requirements. The transition provision is provided in section 532(c) of the conference substitute amendment.

Principal Naval Adviser

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 302) which would have the effect of repealing existing section 5081(d) that provides:

The Chief of Naval Operations is the principal naval adviser to the President and to the Secretary of the Navy on the conduct of war, and the principal naval adviser and naval executive to the Secretary on the conduct of the activities of the Department of the Navy.

The House amendment contained a provision (section 601(d)) that would strike out "to the President and" from section 5081(d) of title 10.

The House recedes.

Vice Chiefs of Staff

The Senate amendment contained provisions (sections 202, 302, 303, and 402) that would specify the appointment and powers and duties of each Vice Chief of Staff and the succession to the duties of the Chief of Staff.

The House amendment contained no similar provisions.

The House recedes.

Deputy and Assistant Chiefs of Staff

The Senate amendment contained provisions (sections 202, 302, 303, and 402) that would:

- (1) authorize not more than four Deputy Chiefs of Staff for each Armed Force;
- (2) authorize not more than three Assistant Chiefs of Staff for each Armed Force; and
- (3) specify the assignment of the Deputy and Assistant Chiefs of Staff.

The House amendment contained no similar provisions.

The House recedes with amendments to authorize not more than five Deputy Chiefs of Staff for each Armed Forces and to establish in law the position of Chief of Staff of the Marine Corps.

SEC. 503. AUTHORITY TO ORGANIZE ARMY INTO COMMANDS, FORCES, AND ORGANIZATIONS; AND SEC. 523. AUTHORITY TO ORGANIZE AIR FORCE INTO SEPARATE ORGANIZATIONS

The Senate amendment contained provisions (sections 203 and 403) that would clarify the authority of the Secretaries of the Army and Air Force to organize the Army and Air Force.

The House amendment contained no similar provisions.

The House recedes.

SEC. 514. TECHNICAL AND CLERICAL AMENDMENTS

Section 514 of the conference substitute amendment amends title 10 to make appropriate conforming and technical changes to implement the actions of the conference committee relating to part B of title V of the conference substitute amendment.

SEC. 531. CONFORMING AMENDMENTS

Section 531 of the conference substitute amendment amends title 10 and title 37 to make appropriate conforming changes to implement the actions of the conference committee relating to parts A, B, and C of title V of the conference substitute amendment.

SEC. 532. TRANSITION

The conferees agreed to two transition provisions that would:

- (1) require implementation of subsections (c) and (d) of sections 3014, 5014, and 8014 of title 10 (as added by sections 501, 511, and 521 of the conference substitute amendment) not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of the conference substitute amendment; and
- (2) require each Secretary of a Military Department to submit a report on such implementation 30 days after implementation.

The conferees also agreed to a transition provision for use by the President before the requirements for appointment as a Chief of Staff become fully effective. The provision authorizes the President to waive for 4 years:

(1) the requirement for a 3-year joint duty tour if the Chief of Staff has served in a joint duty assignment for not less than 2 years; and

(2) the requirement that a Chief of Staff have served in a joint duty assignment as a general or flag officer if the Chief of Staff served as a general or flag officer in an assignment that was considered a joint duty assignment or a joint equivalent assignment under regulations in effect at the time the assignment began.

TITLE VI—MISCELLANEOUS

SEC. 601. REDUCTION IN PERSONNEL ASSIGNED TO MANAGEMENT HEADQUARTERS ACTIVITIES AND CERTAIN OTHER ACTIVITIES

Military Departments and Combatant Commands

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 501) that would require a 10-percent reduction by September 30, 1988 in the total number of military and civilian personnel assigned to headquarters staffs within the Military Departments and combatant commands. The provision would:

(1) exclude each Office of the Secretary of a Military Department, the Army and Air Staffs, the Office of the Chief of Naval Operations, and the Headquarters, Marine Corps, because other provisions of the Senate amendment would require personnel reductions in these organizations;

(2) use the personnel strengths of these staffs on September 30, 1985 as the baseline for reductions;

(3) require the Secretary of Defense to allocate the reductions;

(4) prohibit accomplishment of the reductions by recategorizing or redefining duties, functions, offices, or organizations;

(5) authorize each combatant commander to determine how reductions allocated to his command would be accomplished;

(6) prohibit further increases beyond the reduced personnel levels; and

(7) define the terms applied to headquarters staff.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with two amendments. The first amendment requires the 10-percent reduction to be applied to the total number of personnel assigned on September 30, 1986 instead of September 30, 1985. The second House amendment excludes the immediate headquarters staff of each unified and specified combatant commander from the required personnel reductions.

Defense Agencies and Department of Defense Field Activities

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 117) that would require a 15-percent reduction by September 30, 1988 in the total number of civilian and military personnel assigned to the headquarters staffs of Defense Agencies and Department of Defense Field Activities and a 10-percent reduction in non-headquarters personnel. The provision would:

(1) use the personnel strengths of these elements on September 30, 1985 as the baseline for reductions;

(2) require the Secretary of Defense to allocate the reductions among the agencies and activities in a manner consistent with the efficient operation of the Department of Defense;

(3) prohibit the accomplishment of the reductions by recategorizing or redefining duties, functions, offices, or organizations;

(4) exempt the National Security Agency from the required personnel reductions; and

(5) define the terms applied to headquarters staffs.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with seven amendments to:

(1) require that the reductions be applied to the total number of personnel assigned on September 30, 1986 instead of September 30, 1985.

(2) require only 5-percent reductions by September 30, 1988 for both headquarters personnel and non-headquarters personnel;

(3) require an additional 10-percent reduction in the total number of headquarters personnel assigned on September 30, 1988, to be completed by September 30, 1989, and a corresponding 5-percent reduction in the total number of non-headquarters personnel;

(4) allow any reductions in headquarters personnel and non-headquarters personnel in excess of those required by September 30, 1988 to be applied to the reductions of headquarters and non-headquarters personnel required by September 30, 1989;

(5) allow any reductions of headquarters personnel or non-headquarters personnel in excess of those required by September 30, 1988 or September 30, 1989 to be applied to the required reductions in personnel in the other category;

(6) authorize the Secretary of Defense, if he determines that national security requirements dictate such action, to allocate part or all of the reductions to headquarters or non-headquarters activities in the Department of Defense other than the Defense Agencies and Department of Defense Field Activities;

(7) specify that personnel reductions required by section 601 of the conference substitute amendment are in addition to any reductions required to be made by other provisions of the conference substitute amendment.

The conferees agreed that the principal effect of the second and third House amendments would be to delay the total reductions required by the Senate amendment for 1 year.

The conferees noted that the Senate provision would afford the Secretary latitude in applying the personnel reductions among the various agencies and activities. He would be authorized, for example, to exempt any Defense Agency or Department of Defense Field Activity from personnel reductions. The House amendments increase the discretion allowed the Secretary. He could allocate all or part of the personnel reductions required in the Defense Agencies and Department of Defense Field Activities to other elements of the Department of Defense.

The conferees expect the Secretary of Defense to take advantage of the latitude afforded him by the conference substitute amendment to make selective, rather than across-the-board, reductions. Organizations with expanding functions and limited personnel, such as the Defense Technology Security Administration, should be exempted; reductions should be concentrated in areas where duplication and overstaffing exist. In particular, the Secretary should consider demonstrable efficiency in, or improved performance by, a Defense Agency or Department of Defense Field Activity as an important factor in exempting agencies or activities from personnel reductions.

The conferees believe that streamlining the acquisition activities of the Military Departments should be a principal source of personnel reductions, if reductions are allocated to elements of the Department of Defense other than the Defense Agencies and Department of Defense Field Activities.

SEC. 602. REDUCTION OF REPORTING REQUIREMENTS

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 503) that would waive, effective on January 1, 1987, the statutory requirement for the submission to Congress by the President or Department of Defense officials of several hundred defense-related reports, notifications, and studies. The provision would exempt from the waiver (1) any provision of law enacted on or after the date of enactment of the Senate amendment; and (2) 149 current reporting requirements listed in 84 entries in the Senate provision.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (section 503).

The House recedes with three amendments. The first House amendment affirms that it is the policy of Congress to reduce the administrative burden placed on the Department of Defense by outdated, redundant, or otherwise unnecessary reporting requirements.

The second House amendment requires the Secretary of Defense:

(1) to compile a list of all periodic reports, notifications, and studies currently required to be submitted by the President or Department of Defense officials;

(2) to submit the list to Congress with certain information on each item on the list, including the Secretary's recommendation as to whether the requirement should be retained, modified, or repealed; and

(3) to include a draft of the legislation necessary for the elimination of the reporting requirements recommended by the Secretary.

The third House amendment waives the reporting requirements contained in title 32, United States Code, and exempts additional reports from the waiver.

SEC. 603. ANNUAL REPORT ON NATIONAL SECURITY STRATEGY

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 502) that would require the President to submit an annual report to the Senate Committees on Armed Services and Foreign Relations and the House Committees on Armed Services and Foreign Affairs on the national security strategy of the United States.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (section 501) that would require that the report also be submitted to the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence and the House Permanent Select Committee on Intelligence.

The House recedes with an amendment to require that the report be submitted to Congress (rather than committees of Congress).

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 103(a)(2)) that would amend section 133(e) of title 10 to require the annual report to the Congress from the Secretary of Defense (required by such subsection) to include a presentation of major military missions, of the relationship of those missions to the foreign policy and military force structure of the United States, and a justification for those missions.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with amendments to:

(1) delete the requirement that the report from the Secretary of Defense include a presentation of United States foreign policy and related matters;

(2) delete the requirement that the Secretary of Defense consult with the Secretary of State before submitting the report; and

(3) require the Secretary of Defense, in preparing his report, to take into consideration the content of the annual national security strategy report of the President under section 104 of the National Security Act of 1947 (as added by section 603 of the conference substitute amendment).

The conferees determined that there was no longer a requirement for the Secretary of Defense to include in his report a presentation of United States foreign policy. The national security strategy report of the President will discuss foreign policy. Thus, the conferees agreed only to require the Secretary of Defense, in preparing his report, to take into consideration the content of the President's report. By these changes, the President's report will present the U.S. national security strategy, and the Secretary's report will discuss key elements of the military strategy component of the national security strategy.

SEC. 604. LEGISLATION TO MAKE REQUIRED CONFORMING CHANGES IN LAW

The Senate amendment contained a provision (section 504) that would provide that the provisions of the Senate amendment take effect no later than 180 days after enactment.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment to require the Secretary of Defense to submit draft legislation to make any technical and conforming changes that are required or should be made by reason of the amendments made by the conference substitute amendment.

The conferees agreed that the provisions of the conference substitute amendment should be effective on the date of enactment except where otherwise specified.

SEC. 605. GENERAL TECHNICAL AMENDMENTS

Section 605 of the conference substitute amendment amends title 10 to make general technical changes to implement the actions of the conference committee relating to titles I, II, and III of the conference substitute amendment.
